B.C. POWER BODY SCORED

$5 Increase In Pensions May Be Due

BY T. A. MYERS
Colonist Legislative Reporter

Has the B.C. government decided to boost pension bonuses by $5 a month to keep pace with its sister government in Alberta?

This possibility cropped up Friday after a day of mysterious goings-on behind the scenes in the legislature.

Just before Speaker Thomas Irwin was scheduled to open the house at 2 p.m. Friday, Socred members were summoned out of the chamber to a special caucus meeting.

Opening of the day's sitting was held up 20 minutes.

Then the government members silently trooped back into their places for the day's speeches.

BENNETT SMILES

A minute later Premier Bennett, flashing a wide smile, strode into the house after telling reporters his budget would not be presented Monday but would be delayed "a couple of days."

There was a hurried conference of party whips to arrange for extra speakers to fill out the time until the budget was ready.

The premier left the house again. Coming out of his office a few minutes later he told the Colonist that plans had changed, the budget definitely would come down Monday. Certain printing difficulties, he said, had caused the delay; these had now been overcome.

He didn't explain why a special caucus was needed to discuss printing difficulties.

ALBERTA'S MOVE

A few hours later, the Alberta government presented its own budget, which included $5 a-month increases in the supplementary pensions the province pays to old-age pensioners.

The B.C. government also has promised bonus increases, but the amount has been kept a secret.

There have been persistent rumors, however, that it wouldn't be more than $2.50 a month.

The question now is: Did Premier Bennett decide that if Alberta could afford to give its senior citizens a $5 raise, so could B.C.?

Premier Bennett is proud of the fact that the Social Credit government of Alberta, along with B.C., has been paying $10-a-month bonuses, the highest in Canada. But he wouldn't want to be outdone by Alberta.

CAUCUS PURPOSE

There is a possibility that Friday's extra-special caucus was to inform the B.C. Socreds of the Alberta plan, and to decide on the same increase for B.C.

If that was the case, the decision to delay B.C.'s budget for a couple of days might have been to give the government time to juggle revenues and expenditures to cover a suddenly doubled increase in bonuses.

The printing difficulties mentioned by the premier might have been a matter of changing $2.50 to $5 in the budget speech. Just how these difficulties could have been overcome in so short a time is a story that may never be told.

Tisdalle Charges Answered

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black Friday slapped down his fellow Socred, Saanich's J. D. T. Tisdalle, for his charges of "indoctrination," in B.C. schools.

"In my 15 years as a school teacher," Mr. Black told the legislature, "I have never found one case of indoctrination . . . we have heard too much of this old bogey that school teachers are all CCFers or all Liberals, or all Social Crediters."

It was the second time in a year that Socred cabinet ministers had been impelled to rebuke education critics in their own rear ranks.

Last spring education minister Tilly Rolston repudiated J. Allen Reid's charges of "sex in schools."

Alberta Budget $205,000,000

EDMONTON (CP)—Premier Manning placed a record $205,000,000 budget before the Alberta legislature Friday night and headlined it with increased payments to the province's elderly citizens and the blind.

He also announced a boost in the indemnity paid to members of the assembly itself.

The province's financial assistance to its municipalities will also go up.

There were no tax changes.

Mr. Manning, who also is provincial treasurer, estimated over-all revenues for the 1954 fiscal year at $157,315,465, an increase of $18,947,305 over the current year, with expenditures, exclusive of statutory provisions, at $156,949,712, an increase of $1,991,582.

UP $30,866,582

Statutory provisions for loaning purposes amounted to $48,000,000, boosting total estimated expenditures to $204,949,712, an increase of $30,866,582 over the amount estimated in the 1953-54 budget a year ago.

Budget highlights:

An increase of $5 a month—to $15 from $10—in supplementary pensions paid by the provincial government to recipients of old-age security pensions, old-age assistance pensions and allowances for the blind.

The government proposes to increase by $60 the allowable annual income for each of the pensionable category categories.

A $600-a-session increase for all members of the legislature, increasing sessional indemnities to $3,600, of which $2,400 will be indemnity and $1,200 expenses.

Financial aid for Alberta municipalities will go up by approximately $14,000,000 to $89,785,450.

Mr. Manning disclosed that this oil-rich province has received a total of $235,551,000 from sale of Crown leases and royalties since the discovery of the Leduc oil field in 1948.

Army Court Orders Death For Canadian

ISERLOHN, Germany (CP)—A 22-year-old Canadian soldier was sentenced to death by an army court martial Friday for the robbery-slaying of a German woman last December 15.

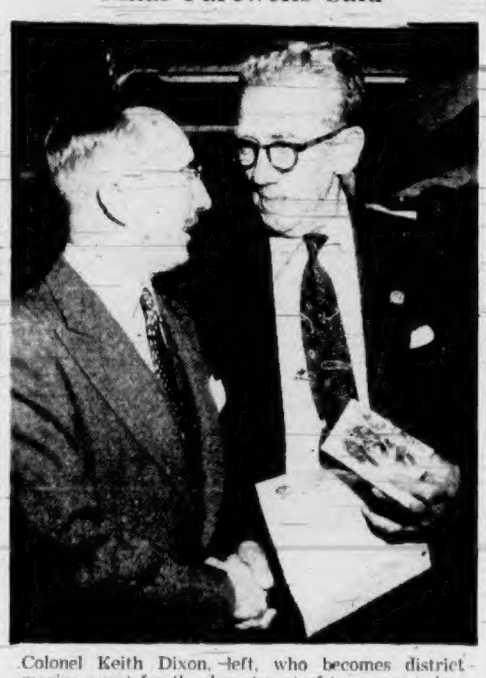

Pte. George Mitchell of Winnipeg, a member of the 2nd Battalion Princess Patricia's Light Infantry, showed little emotion as Col. R. K. Clark of Camp Borden, Ont., chief officer on the court martial, said: "The court sentences the accused to suffer death."

The private, who pleaded not guilty, was convicted of stabbing to death Mrs. Elisabeth Sieling, 56, during a drunken outing in Iserlohn last December 15. Witnesses testified that he robbed the woman of 31 marks ($7.44).

Final Farewells Said

Colonel Keith Dixon, left, who becomes district marine agent for the department of transport today, bids farewell to Tom Morrison, who retired from that position yesterday.

Marine Veteran Honored on Ship

It was Tom Morrison Day on board the lighthouse tender Estevan yesterday.

The bluff, outspoken, tall and craggy veteran of 34 years in ships and ashore retired from his position as district marine agent for the department of transport here yesterday.

Nearly 100 of his friends from the transport department—from lighthouses, weatherships, lighthouse tenders, shore workers and office workers—gathered on board the Estevan to bid "the boss" good-bye.

PRESENTATION MADE

They gave him a 21-inch television set as a present and Mrs. Morrison was presented with a large floral bouquet.

Colonel Keith Dixon, who takes over Mr. Morrison's duties today, made the farewell speech.

"In some respects this is a sad occasion," he said.

"A man who to many of us has proved himself a friend as well as a boss is now relinquishing one of those roles. We hope he will continue in the other role for many years to come.

LONG SERVICE

"His service covers six reigns and it is most appropriate that in the last year of service and in the sixth reign he was presented a Coronation Medal."

He paid tribute to his big heartedness and capacity for helping other people, his keen interest in the service, his enthusiasm and capacity for work.

Mr. Morrison recalled his years of service.

"You remember the good things, the funny things, and the things that happened long ago," he said. (See further story on page 26.)

Negligence Charged In Disaster

Officials, Engineer Hit on Whatshan

The members of the B.C. Power Commission and their chief engineer were "negligent in failing to take reasonable steps" to avert the landslides which smashed the Whatshan power plant last fall.

This was the finding of Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne, Supreme Court judge whose report on the Whatshan disaster was received by the government yesterday and immediately presented to the legislature.

Premier Bennett later said he had no comment on the report, but that the government was studying it.

Mr. Justice Clyne was commissioned last September to probe the causes of the mud-slides which on August 11 and August 16 smashed a large part of the $6,000,000 Whatshan power plant on Lower Arrow Lake and knocked out its distribution system.

PLANT IN DANGER

After hearing 25 witnesses in 22 days of evidence and after visiting the slide area, Mr. Justice Clyne decided that the three power commissioners and their chief engineer knew, or should have known, that the plant was in danger for two years before the slides, but that they failed to try to avert them.

The power commission and H. G. Acres & Co., the consulting engineers who helped plan the Whatshan project, had been loudly criticized for building the power plant on a site where landslides were to be expected.

But Mr. Justice Clyne found that the engineering advice on construction of the plant was sound, and that that advice was followed. He completely cleared Acres & Co. of any responsibility for the disaster.

The four men at fault, he said, were Samuel R. Weston, chairman of the power commission, Commissioners Forrest L. Shaw and Major-Gen. W. W. Foster, and BCPC chief engineer Arthur W. Lash.

In spite of repeated warnings over a period of two years from commission personnel at Whatshan that huge masses of mud behind the power plant were shifting, he found, neither Mr. Lash nor the commissioners took action.

Buttle Lake Plan Doubted

Findings in the inquiry into the Whatshan disaster ought to cast doubt on the power commission's Buttle Lake plans, two prominent conservationists declared last night.

Hon H. H. Stevens told The Colonist from Vancouver:

"The report ought certainly to throw grave doubts on the obvious determination of the commission to go ahead with Buttle Lake in face of expert evidence to the effect that it is not safe for a dam of the type they propose to build there. They are technically wrong."

TROUBLE FEARED

Roderick Haig-Brown of Campbell River said he felt the surveys taken of the Buttle Lake area for the proposed dam there could result in trouble similar to the Whatshan slide.

"Although a report of the surveys has never been published I feel the cost of putting the dam in may prove much higher than estimated," he said, "and we will both lose the park and still not have a dam. This finding by Mr. Justice Clyne just adds to the worry."

(Conservationists have frequently expressed fear that excessive leakage of water through the ground under the proposed Buttle Lake dam will make the dam a failure.)

Mr. Justice Clyne had this to say about the B.C. Power Commission's failure to have a geological examination made of the site of the Whatshan power plant to determine the nature of the terrain:

"Undoubtedly it is good practice to drill the area in the vicinity of the proposed site of a power house and switching station where a permanent and expensive installation is going to take place. . . .

"However, the nature of the slope above the power house showed itself during a year and a half so that any original ommission to ascertain its character became merged in the later failure to take steps to protect the property."

NO COMMENT

A. W. Lash, chief engineer and power commission members Samuel R. Weston, Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster and Forest L. Shaw all declined last night to comment on Mr. Justice Clyne's findings.

They stated they knew about the contents of the report, but had not had the opportunity yet to study it in full.

Britons Note New Vigor In Churchill

LONDON (Reuters)—Close friends of Sir Winston Churchill are saying that if he maintains his present form they foresee him continuing as prime minister after his 80th birthday in November.

This view is shared by many members of parliament, who declare that far from showing any signs of retiring, the veteran statesman seems to have taken a new lease of life in recent months.

Both Conservatives and Socialists are impressed by his new-found vigor in House of Commons speeches.

Huge Arms Cache Found in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Friday seized a huge cache of armaments in an upper West Side Manhattan building, and arrested two men they identified as Cubans.

The big store of weapons, police said, included 27 large calibre anti-tank guns with 24 cases of ammunition, 25 Garand rifles with four cases of ammunition and five cases of hand grenades.

The arms were stacked in a store room of a five-story business and residential structure.

Nathan Small, clerk of the firm which owns the building, said that recently "trucks began to unload heavy cases outside the premises."

He said he rented the store quarters last November at $75 a month to a man who said he and his partner wanted to use it to manufacture crates.

The man identified himself as "Mario Cruz," Small said.

Police later identified Cruz as a 34-year-old Cuban and his partner as Roberto Oscar Acevedo, 36.

Last December 4, Carlos Prio Socarras, exiled former president of Cuba, was arrested on charges of conspiring to smuggle arms to his homeland.

Federal authorities said the arms-export plot was aimed at equipping a revolution in Cuba.

New York Docks Tied by Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Wildcat strikers tied up New York's huge port Friday, defying a federal court order in a battle for union control of the waterfront.

Resentful members of the Independent International Longshoremen's Association refused to work luxury liner and other piers in Manhattan, and stayed off the job at piers in Brooklyn and Staten Island.

Waterfront police reported that the rival AFL union of the same name also refused to report to work at strikebound piers, apparently to avoid any brawling.

The two unions are fighting for control of the dock workers.

The striking ILA longshoremen said they acted because of a federal court restraining order obtained against them Thursday by the national labor relations board.

Passengers boarding the liner Queen Elizabeth were forced to carry their own luggage.

The idle longshoremen said their action was part of a port-wide movement, although union leaders had ordered them to comply with the court order.

ILA president William V. Bradley said the national labor relations board is "against us and for the AFL."

The waterfront tie-ups developed from the battle between the ILA and the new AFL-ILA for certification as bargaining agent for longshoremen in the port. The AFL ousted the old ILA last fall for failure to cleanse itself of racketeering elements, then set up the AFL-ILA.

Mighty Heave Will Right Empress of Canada Hulk

LONDON (CP)—There will be few spectators today for the climax of a tough salvage job—the final mighty heave to right the gutted hulk of the Empress of Canada.

Only a handful of salvage experts from six countries and the salvage workmen will be on hand at Liverpool for the big heave, in the £320,000 operation to float the 20,000-ton Canadian Pacific Steamships liner, which burned and capsized at her berth January 25, 1953.

Divers first cut away the twisted funnels, masts, bridge and upper deck.

Openings were cut from deck to deck and 700 tons of steel plating passed through to build watertight bulkheads. Six 45-foot water-filled steel cylinders were mounted on the exposed side of the 600-foot hull to help pull it upright and 11 more, filled with air, were secured to the submerged side.

The final step was to install the 16 great winches. Today, powered by steam from six harbor boats moored alongside, they'll slowly tighten the hawsers fastened to high steel tripods, welded to the upper side of the hull.

After that, the hull will have to be floated from the dock bottom and the hundreds of tons of oil and mud now inside shoveled out. Later it will be moved into drydock and patched for the voyage to the breaking yard. It is expected to bring no more than £50,000 as scrap.

Briton Befriends, Romps With Lions, Leopards

LONDON (UP)—James Walton, the son and grandson of naturalists, has performed the zoologically improbable feat of getting lions and leopards to accept him as one of their own.

He can lie down in a cage with a lion or go for a romp with it in the woods and have the lion treat him with the respect and deference it might accord a valued hunting mate.

He can read a book with a leopard curled up on his lap, or take the beast on a leash and go shopping in his hometown of Chester-Le-Street in County Durham.

Walton's neighbors, who must be the most blase in all Britain, scarcely turn a hair when he marches down main street with a powerful jungle beast sniffing at his heels.

"When I was a boy," Walton said, "I was deeply impressed by the story of Androcles and the lion—Androcles who won the gratitude of a lion by extracting a thorn from its paw. I determined then that some day I would own a lion and make friends with it."

Travellers from the provinces brought to London so many stories of the business man with the strange hobby that Walton was finally persuaded to write a book—"My Wild Friends"—about them.

The book and the astonishing pictures of Walton and his pets—badger, fox, leopard, lion, cheetah—confirm all the legends told about him.

Walton says he can tell a bad-tempered animal by looking at it. A lion, for example, wrinkles its brow like a frowning human when it is untrustworthy. He picks the even-tempered ones and studies them until he knows exactly what will not excite them into attack.

When he sees something that he knows will interest his lion, he acts interested, too, establishing what he calls "a community of interest."

He has had many adventures. Once he took a lion for a walk on a long leash and was standing on a road with the lion hidden in a thicket. A man came by with three growling greyhounds and Walton, fearing the invisible lion might attack, asked the man to take another route.

"I'm sick of getting my dogs out of the way of people who have sissy dogs," snarled the stranger. "If that's the kind of dog you've got, it will have to suffer the consequences."

At this point the lion bounded into view and roared. When last seen the man was leaping two strides ahead of his fleeing greyhounds.

Ex-Pilot, Father of Two, Changes Into Woman

LONDON (Reuters)—A former RAF fighter pilot—father of two children—has changed completely into an attractive blonde woman.

Doctors said Friday they believe it may be the most complete sex transformation in medical history.

Until 1951 the pilot was Bob Cowell, 33, son of Maj. Gen. Sir Ernest Cowell.

Now the ex-pilot is Roberta Elizabeth Cowell whom the doctors describe as a sophisticated woman who has completely readjusted herself to her new life. She cannot, however, bear children.

The change in sex began in 1948. During the next three years it was completed by hormone treatments and a series of operations.

At present, the doctors said, Miss Cowell is "somewhere in France."

RARE CASE

They added that two features make the case more unusual than most sex changes. A change from male to female much rarer than the reverse—has seldom, if ever, taken place so late in life.

Secondly, the doctors said, they knew of no previous case where the change has occurred in a man already the father of two children.

The marriage came to an end in 1952—a year after the transformation.

Photographs of Cowell at a time when he was a well-known racing driver show him as a clean-cut, alert young man.

Today as Roberta Cowell she has blonde hair cascading to her shoulders. She uses make-up freely and wears jewelry.

The original birth certificate has been altered. The original document, issued in April, 1918, gave the child's sex as "boy" and the names as "Robert Marshall Cowell."

Now it has been endorsed: "For 'boy' read 'girl.' Corrected on May 17, 1951, by me Philip J. Stevens, superintendent registrar, on production of statutory declaration made by Dorothy Elizabeth Cowell and (Dr.) Charles Eugene Dusseau."

Dr. Dusseau, a graduate of Quebec's Laval University and of the University of Toronto, now practises in London. He said he took no part in the operation but "was merely asked to certify that the person was a woman."

Hurt Woman Still Critical

St. Joseph's Hospital authorities reported late last night that Miss Lena Galt, 90, injured Wednesday afternoon in an automobile accident, was still in critical condition. She is the daughter of Sir Alexander Galt, one of the Fathers of Confederation.

Strachan Parody Raps 'Deficiency'

A new slogan—"deficiency with monotony"—was coined for the Social Credit party yesterday by Robert Strachan (CCF, Cowichan Newcastle).

Mr. Strachan was commenting on the "incompetence of this government to handle the affairs of the province in an orderly manner."

The Strachan slogan is, of course, a parody on the real Socred catchphrase, "efficiency with economy."

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

WORD is around that the government has already decided to allow the importation of California wines. The question is: What brands?

Look for a scramble among agents of rival vintners to get their products on the B.C. market. There are many brands, and it isn't LCB policy to buy them all.

* * *

The other day I talked to one importer who represents a well-known California wine firm. He suggests it would be wise to import the brands that have proved most popular.

Manitoba and Alberta liquor boards imported an unpopular brand of California wine, the importer said. They bought a carload each. They still have it on their hands.

There seems to be sense to what this importer says, but it would be a shame if minority tastes were too much neglected.

We are not great wine-drinkers here. However, we would probably drink more of the stuff if good wine could be bought at a low price, the importer claims. California wine can be landed here for 70 cents a quart wholesale—40 cents to the manufacturer, eight cents shipping cost, 16 cents tariff, six cents Dominion sales tax.

This importer claims the government would be foolish to mark up wine more than 50 per cent. After that, sales begin to fall. At that rate, California wine could be sold in the liquor store here for $1.05, which compares well with the price of the B.C. product.

Some people say California wines would hurt B.C. producers; others say they wouldn't. About 450 people in B.C. are engaged in making wine—not counting seasonal labor. There are roughly 285 loganberry growers, 110 grape growers and 50 workers in the wineries.

Representative Sterling Cole, chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, chose an odd place to announce some terrifying facts about the H-bomb recently.

He said that the 1952 H-bomb test wiped out an island and carved a crater in the ocean floor a mile in diameter and 175 feet deep. And where did he make this statement? At a Chicago convention of sand, gravel and ready-mixed concrete dealers?

What qualified the gravel and concrete men to hear this news before anyone else did? Maybe the congressman felt that it would be up to them to fill in the holes that the bomb made—if any of them survived. But the congressman's choice of an audience is still a little puzzling.

At this rate, the first atomic aircraft may be announced at a regional conference of garbage men. News of a moon rocket may be broken at a gathering of canary fanciers.

Speak Your Mind

He's Wonderful, Wife Proclaims

By THE JUDGE

The old Judge changed his mind twice before he landed on today's winning letter on "Should husbands help with the housework?" First came a story about two wonderful people who made a go of a real tough proposition. A sure winner, thought the Judge. Then came a letter that had the Judge squirming. Really thought he'd have to give it the prize. But the very first letter he opened was so terse and pointed (and sensible) that he just couldn't resist it. Here it is:

Dear Judge:

He probably shouldn't have to, but when he does, it's WONDERFUL!

GRATEFUL WIFE

(Lucky husband!)

Dear Judge:

... The worst offenders feign ignorance of everything pertaining to household duties, but quite often have an aptitude for learning and performing such skills as helping friend Harry build his new house, fix Bob's radio, hand out gardening advice to the next-door neighbor while leaning over the fence up to the knees in grass which his wife hadn't got around to cutting yet. However, give him his due, he is quite tolerant and philosophical about it all, knowing she'll get around to it eventually. He appreciates that she lost about two weeks time on account of having the new baby and that the household chores which were neglected during her absence had to be caught up with. . . .

MOTHER'S LITTLE HELPER HENRY

(Ouch! Ouch! Ouch!)

Dear Judge,

I have been lame all my life. My husband took a big gamble when we married because he knew I could never do much heavy farm work . . . I was often ill and my husband cheerfully did everything outside and in, including the butter and bread making, washing, ironing, cooking and nursing till I was well again. There came a day when he was taken very ill and I somehow walked a mile through heavy snow drifts for help . . . So I say where a home is based on real unselfishness and love, there comes a time in all marriages when one or the other gives 100 per cent . . .

M. INGLETON
1710 Ruby Road

(If more husbands were like yours, Mrs. Ingleton, our question would never have been asked.)

Dear Judge,

. . . The older the family gets, the less he should have to do around the house. Not only is he tired by this time, but getting ever less for himself out of his earnings. You want him to last out, don't you?

MUMSIE

(But if he lasts long enough, won't Mumsie end up doing everything? That's the system in our house now.)

Dear Judge,

I am to be married shortly and have decided ideas . . . I feel that every husband should do a little light housework such as dishwashing, floor polishing, scrubbing, dusting, pressing, store errands and garbage emptying, just to help his wife out.

I haven't mentioned this to my fiance yet . . .

HELPLESS

(Leave the heavy stuff like watering the house plants to his poor little wife, eh? For the record, Helpless is Mumsie's daughter.)

Crowds Halt Royal Train In Polio Area

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—Plans to protect Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh from possible polio infection in two country towns in the state of Victoria broke down Friday in the face of public sentiment.

The state government had announced that the train bearing the Royal couple on a "whistle-stop" tour of upcountry districts would only slow down passing through the towns of Castlemaine and Maryborough.

At Castlemaine, where a youth died from polio this week, a crowd of 4,000, including hundreds of children, crammed the railroad station, against official warnings.

The local mayor had been told to hand his address of welcome unread to the Queen. But he insisted on reading it.

At Maryborough, though the Royal train arrived at night, the crowd gathered on the platform. A last-minute decision was made to stop the train, after the experience at Castlemaine.

New-Type Gyroscope 'Miracle' Instrument

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A new-type "floated" gyroscope, capable of such minute jobs as measuring off the width of a city block on the moon, is being mass-produced here.

The ultra-precision instrument, cylindrical and weighing less than three pounds, is claimed by engineers to be the most sensitive airborne implement ever devised.

Officially called the hermetic integrating gyro, the device is capable of detecting motion 3,000 times slower than the movement of the hour hand on a watch.

It was designed for the United States Air Force for use in automatic flight control systems for supersonic and pilotless aircraft, and for bombing and weapon-firing controls.

Engineers said yesterday that the near-miracle performance is due to the fact that friction among moving parts has been cut almost to zero. This was accomplished by floating the gyro's delicate, jewel-mounted spin mechanism in a special oily fluid.

If a boy on a sled could reduce friction comparably, these experts said it would be possible for him to coast about 1,000 miles from a hill only one foot high.

So sensitive is the mechanism that one speck of dust weighing 1-1,000 of a gram would have the same effect as the dropping of a handful of gravel into an automobile transmission.

If a man standing in Los Angeles could read a newspaper held up in New York, the instrument could detect the angle of change of his eyes as they traveled from the first column to the eighth.

Members of Daughters of St. George, Victoria Lodge, No. 81, are requested to attend the funeral of Sister H. Penketh at Hayward's Funeral Parlor March 8th at 1.30 p.m.
C. FAIRSERVICE, President.

In the Legislature Yesterday

Throne Speech Accepted, Budget Disclosures Next

The legislature Friday unanimously accepted the Speech from the Throne, the government's statement of its legislative policy for the current session.

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black wound up the debate on the throne speech just before 6 p.m. adjournment time, after 11 days of speechmaking.

On Monday Premier Bennett will present his first budget to the legislature. In his budget speech he will answer some of the questions which have been plaguing opposition members all session.

Chief of these, of course, is whether the government actually intends to abolish hospital insurance premiums and replace them with an increase in the sales tax.

MAJOR POINTS

Other major points which will be cleared up:

How big will the government make its promised increases in cost-of-living bonuses for pensioners, and increases in social assistance allowances?

How big a slice will it take off B.C.'s $10 car and truck registration fees?

How much will the government reduce the 17½ per cent amusement tax?

How far will it go in exempting children's clothing and shoes from the sales tax? Where will it draw the line that separates children from adults? This point may not be cleared up until the sales-tax amendment bill is presented later in the session.

* * *

Labor in B.C. has "drawn a blank" in the present Social Credit minister of labor, Robert Strachan (CCF, Cowichan Newcastle) charged yesterday.

Speaking in the Throne Speech debate, the fiery Island MLA needled the government continuously with eloquent denunciation of their policies.

He referred to the "sad, sorry days" of the 100-day lumber industry strike last year stating that it was prolonged because the provincial labor minister "would not take the lead." He said the government has to continually defend its labor department but it is "defending nothing."

PGE TENDERS

He launched a vigorous attack on the government for calling for tenders on the PGE extensions.

"What kind of a government is this," he said. "Calling for tenders before the house has made any decision. What is the legislature for? Are we to handle people's business or are we to be told what has happened?"

Mr. Strachan said he was suspicious of the proposed relief of sales tax on children's boots and shoes. He said when the tax was taken off meals under a dollar, a 10 per cent tax was put on liquor.

"What's the gimmick this time, what's the joker in there?" he asked.

SILENT ON COST

On the PGE he said no mention of the cost of the northern extension had been made by the minister of railways. In asserting that the $12,000,000 cost of the southern extension would pay for itself, he said, the premier overlooked the fact that money will be needed for both extensions. He said he had found it difficult to get information from the cabinet on PGE costs.

"Some governments appoint a minister without portfolio but this is the first government to appoint ministers without information," he said.

Flaying the Socreds for their "mixed up, crazy, confused thinking on this pay-as-you-go stuff," he claimed the government had run up a debt potential of $104,000,000 since it had been in office and would have to borrow another $60,000,000 to extend the PGE.

Commission Hit In Power Slides

The commissioners, he said, "hoped Mr. Lash would look after the situation."

Mr. Lash, in turn, hoped that the Whatshan plant superintendent, J. T. Kirkpatrick, was taking adequate steps, "whereas what Mr. Kirkpatrick was doing was hopelessly inadequate and actually harmful."

SLIDES HASTENED

Mr. Kirkpatrick tried to avert the slides by hosing loose material off the mountainside into the lake. This, Mr. Justice Clyne found, probably hastened the slides. He attached no blame to Mr. Kirkpatrick, who, he said, kept his superiors fully informed of the danger.

The slides were caused by water leaking out of a two-mile long pressure tunnel running back from the generating station into the mountain and connecting with Whatshan Lake about 700 feet above Arrow Lake.

Water leaked through the walls of the tunnel and saturated loose material on the face of the slope behind the power plant. This material—silt and clay, mixed with huge boulders—began to shift in the summer of 1951, two years before the disastrous slides.

WARNINGS GIVEN

The three power commissioners were warned time and time again, Mr. Justice Clyne reported, that the situation was serious. In March, 1952, they were told by G. A. Vandervoort, their chief operations engineer, that rivers of mud threatened to engulf part of the plant, which turned out to be an understatement of what actually happened.

"In spite of the alarming nature of Mr. Vandervoort's reports," Mr. Justice Clyne said, "the earth movement behind the power house was not discussed by the commission members with Mr. Lash. They sought no advice from him nor did they give to Mr. Lash any instruction to make any investigation . . ."

The tunnel should have been closed and inspected, the judge said, and leaks in the tunnel wall should have been closed. This was not done.

Mr. Lash didn't even visit the Whatshan plant in 1953, in spite of the alarming reports, which "indicates a lack of co-ordination or lack of management on the power commission itself," Mr. Justice Clyne said.

CHARGED BY STATUTE

"The commission is charged by statute with the duty of operating any property owned and controlled by it. The members of the commission cannot escape that responsibility by saying that they employed competent assistants when they had personal knowledge of a dangerous situation . . . for two years.

"Notwithstanding any amount of confidence which they may have had in Mr. Lash, they had the responsibility of seeing to it that he carried out his duties, which he clearly did not do, either because he failed to apprehend a danger which he should have recognized or because he was kept too busy by other tasks imposed upon him by the commission.

"It is with the utmost reluctance that I feel compelled to find that he (Mr. Lash) was negligent in failing to take proper steps to prevent the slides at Whatshan," the judge summed up, "and it is with similar reluctance that I am compelled to find that the members of the power commission failed to carry out properly their duties of management . . ."

Guilty of Murder, Airmen Collapse

BITBURG, Germany (Reuters)—Three U.S. airmen collapsed in court here Friday after a general court martial found them guilty of the unpremeditated murder of a French soldier.

All three required medical attention before leaving the court.

Sentences will be handed down later on the men.

Garden Notes

No Pat Answer On Planting Time

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

One of the problems that seems to bother the novice gardener at this season of the year is just when he should put his seeds into the ground and, unfortunately, there just isn't any pat answer for this one.

If frost was the only problem, it would be comparatively simple to give a safe date for seed sowing. The average date of the last killing frost in our district is March 27, and if we are prepared to gamble on 1954 being a normal or average year, the odds are all with us if we sow after this date. But far more important than the air temperature is the condition of the soil, and this will vary tremendously from year to year, according to the rainfall, and from district to district, according to the type of soil. Light, well-drained sandy ground is always workable long before you can even venture to set foot on heavy, sticky clay.

If you could watch an experienced farmer at this season of the year, you would probably find him out walking over his plowed fields, head bent and eyes to the ground, and giving a tentative kick to the clods of soil. Not until the March winds have dried off the ground to the point where the clods fall apart at the touch of his toe will he get out his harrow and seeder.

Given a spell of fine weather in March, there is always a strong temptation to hurry the seeds into the ground. I'll grant you that it does something for the ego to be the first in your neighborhood to pick a mess of early peas or pluck the first vine-ripened tomato, but pushing seed into cold, wet, clammy soil isn't the way to secure the first-fruits of the land.

Personally, I have become a Johnny-come-lately as far as seed sowing in the open is concerned. Time and time again I have noticed stuff from mid-April sowings overtake and pass the plants seeded earlier. You see, we get a lot of cold winds in March and early April, and the effect of these cold blasts is to make the stems of our young plants hard and woody. Later, when growth commences in earnest, the passage of sap is restricted by the hard stems and the plant simply cannot compete against those with lush and succulent stems.

There is an easy test you can make to determine whether or not your soil is in fit condition for sowing. Pick up a handful in your fist and squeeze it, then open your hand flat. If it crumbles and tends to fall apart, seeding is in order, but if it retains its shape, you had better wait for the sun and wind to dry it off a bit more.

Given a little protection from the wind, there are a few seeds which can be sown as soon as the soil is in fit shape, notably broad beans, onions, parsnips, and the smooth-seeded peas, and we'll have to talk about those next week.

Security Checks Part of Routine For Civil Service

OTTAWA (CP) — Some 3,000 federal civil servants have undergone routine security checks in the last year.

[illegible] intake in the civil service during that time plus transfers involving security within government departments.

However, there is no indication how many, if any persons might have been fired as security risks, refused jobs in the first place with the civil service or denied transfers or promotions.

The subject of security was brought up in the Commons Wednesday when Davie Fulton (PC, Kamloops) asked that the names of members of the government's security panel be made public, for details of the panel's operations and for figures on the number of civil servants dismissed or transferred as poor security risks.

"ABHOR McCARTHYISM"

Acting Prime Minister Howe said: "It is not in the public interest to answer these questions." He added: "We all abhor McCarthyism."

Mr. Fulton, in an interview, said that he intends to pursue the subject and that he is drafting new questions to ask the government.

He made it clear he has no intention of accusing the civil service of harboring Communists.

His purpose was to determine whether the security panel is doing an efficient job and to make sure that the panel is "absolutely fair."

Security checks are made on all new civil servants and on civil servants transferred to new posts in "sensitive" branches of government, such as the defense research board, atomic energy and national defense.

Security is the responsibility chiefly of the deputy ministers of government departments.

The RCMP merely places the results of its investigation before the deputy minister concerned. If the deputy minister requires advice, he seeks it from the security panel, comprising some half-dozen members.

Oddities

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UP) — Juan Salazar, 42, had an argument with his wife Wednesday night and decided to end all his troubles by burning down his house with himself in it.

When police and firemen arrived at the home, they found the inside of the place a blaze of flames, with Salazar sitting in the middle.

"Let her go," he yelled at them. "She go up, I go up."

The firemen put out the blaze and the policemen carted Salazar off to the county jail.

"By jing," said Salazar, enroute to the jail, "I have misfire."

BOSTON (AP) — The Massachusettes legislature is moving to rest the wraiths of Salem's witches.

The committee on constitutional law Thursday approved a bill clearing the names of those hanged as witches in 1692.

Man Jailed For Holdup At Free Press

WINNIPEG (CP)—One of the gunmen in the $26,000 Christmas season robbery of the Winnipeg Free Press went behind bars Friday in a rapid-fire sequence of confession, trial and sentencing.

Clifford Leonard Orr, 22, began serving a five-year term for armed robbery three hours after his return under police escort from a fling in California.

Orr was a known fugitive wanted for theft, burglary and jumping $15,000 bail. But his 10-minute appearance in police court, in which he pleaded guilty to a total of 14 charges, was the first public word that he was even a suspect in the December 21 hold-up.

Alexander Bolonchuck, 31, and Alexander McNeil Wilson, 29, charged with conspiring to plan the newspaper robbery, are held without bail awaiting trial.

Bureaucracy Seen In Housing Setup

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons heard a charge yesterday that there is danger that new housing legislation proposed by the government will set up a "giant new government bureaucracy" under Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Donald Fleming (PC, Eglinton) made the bureaucracy charge and added that the government has "exaggerated" what the legislation would accomplish.

The bill would not create a "new heaven or new earth" for the prospective home buyer and it was "cruel" to intensify their hopes, he said.

The real meat of the bill was in the still-secret regulations which the government has declined to divulge, he said.

C. E. Johnson (SC, Bow River) contended that one-half of Canada's population, those earning less than $3,000 a year, will receive no benefit from the bill which had been set up to maintain and increase Canada's house-building efforts.

The legislation, first introduced in the Commons last January, proposes to lower down payments and extend the mortgage period under the National Housing Act. Under it, chartered banks will be allowed to make housing loans under a mortgage insurance scheme, with CMHC gradually withdrawing from the joint lending field.

Mr. Fleming said when the bill was first considered by the Commons, members lacked all the information later obtained in committee. He now was of the opinion that the bill is not going to work the "wonders" held out by the government.

Stripped of "propaganda" the bill had a lot of shortcomings, the "crux" of the issue was whether the chartered banks would provide sufficient mortgage money to take up the gap after CMHC withdraws. But chartered banks had displayed a lack of enthusiasm for the bill.

Mr. Molotov Forgets

FOREIGN MINISTER MOLOTOV'S assertion from Moscow that western plans for the rearming of Germany could lead to another European war conveniently overlooks or ignores the basic condition under which there has been need for rearmament anywhere. That was the fact that Soviet Russia at the conclusion of the Second World War declined to withdraw her troops from Europe, remained fully under arms and has lived since as a walled camp behind the iron curtain. For no other reason, and under no other circumstances imaginable, would the western nations have rearmed. If Mr. Molotov stirs his memory a little, he might easily recall the Ribbentrop-Molotov "non-aggression pact" and all of the incidents leading up to that world conflict.

Having declined to co-operate with the free world in any workmanlike degree in the last nine years in genuine efforts toward peace, it is a bit late in the day for Soviet Russia to plead that western defensive alliances are in any manner whatever either aggressive or unneeded. Treaties have been made and ignored, conferences held and stalemated, conventions drawn and revoked, but the one pact that the world has been waiting for Russia would not join—honest concurrence in disarmament, negotiation and peace.

It is nearly a decade now since the late war was grinding towards its close. The day-to-day minutes of the United Nations Assembly are proof enough of the direct and persistent efforts of the western nations to join in world disarmament and in that to lead the parade. Soviet Russia would have none of it. That is why the West has rearmed, nor can all the words in the dictionary refute that primary condition, which Mr. Molotov appears to forget. Each day indeed it becomes clearer that the decision of the West to combine in its own defense and to take steps to make that defense realistic and ready has been the only one that has had any real significance in the genuine cause of peace.

"These are more fun than the candy ones, Smithy."

One-Way Tax Street

GASOLINE sales in British Columbia last year, according to official statistics, reached a new record total of 210,072,000 gallons, which was 18,540,000 gallons higher than in 1952. Not all gasoline is taxable at the full 10 cents a gallon rate, but most of it is, so that the revenue to the provincial government must have amounted to around $20,000,000, all of it extracted from the section of the population maintaining motor vehicles for business or pleasure.

How much of that gasoline was burned up inside municipal boundaries there is no way of knowing, nor can there be with any approach to accuracy. From observation of the density of urban traffic, however, it is perfectly plain that by far the larger proportion is consumed in vehicles driven on roads built and maintained at the expense of municipal taxpayers. Yet the provincial government retains every last cent of the money which represents wear and tear of thoroughfares to whose costly upkeep the province contributes nothing from the gasoline tax.

This policy of taking all and paying back nothing has been followed by succeeding governments for two decades or more. It is true that it is based on a doctrine which one legislature after another appears to have found acceptable: that the motoring section of the population should pay for the province's highways. Yet what this policy amounts to is that one heavily overburdened group of taxpayers, most of whom rarely use them, are being made to pay for communications which are for the benefit of the province as a whole, while at the same time paying separately through local taxes for the streets they do use. The urban motorist's tax contribution is out of all proportion to the use he gets out of the highways his money is spent on, and to the benefit which the entire province derives from him.

Such a policy is patently unfair to the municipal corporations, now almost at their wits' end to keep essential services going. Streets are falling to pieces because local councils, beset by steadily increasing demands for education and other services over which they have virtually no control, cannot provide enough money to keep them in repair. Meanwhile all the money derived from the use of these same streets goes in a one-way stream to another government which accepts no responsibility for them. The municipalities would be relieved of much of their worry over funds for public works if the legislature could be persuaded to recognize distribution of gasoline tax revenue as the only equitable and practical application of the "user pay" doctrine.

Civic Correspondence

IT will be a pity if present trends at the City Hall regarding correspondence harden into a fixed policy of repression. The fact that the reading last month of letters on the library issue raised a slight hubbub is scarcely valid reason for throwing the veil of secrecy over all correspondence addressed to the council. Inconsistently enough also such a trend denies the forthright initial election thesis of His Worship that free and open discussion should govern the administration of civic affairs.

The mayor is entirely within his rights in preventing newspaper access to letters that arrive at the city clerk's office but in issuing this ban he is reversing a custom of long standing and that alone invites some serious thought. Over the years there is little if any evidence that the privilege of noting and printing the substance of such correspondence before aldermen dealt with it in council has been abused. Few if any previous administrations questioned the procedure and that must count for something. Indeed the practice is one that is helpful to aldermen, for it enables them to gauge public reaction and gives them time to study numerous matters in advance, thus obviating snap judgments when called on suddenly to make decisions.

The practice has worked well and its discontinuance may easily harm the public weal. Letters addressed to the city council reflect the interest of the public in what after all is its own business. It is highly desirable that such an interest be maintained and the publication of such correspondence undoubtedly stimulates and develops community spirit. It is important also to remember at all times that citizens are equally as concerned with civic problems as are the aldermen whom they elect to represent them simply because it is not possible to govern a city otherwise.

OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE DINNER

Sir,—For the past five years a dinner has been held on the night of the Oxford and Cambridge Boat Race. This year the dinner is to be held at the Union Club on Saturday, April 3.

I have a list of some 80 former members of Oxford and Cambridge Universities, and, I would be grateful if you would publish this letter in the hope that other Oxford and Cambridge men will let me have their names and addresses so that they may receive invitations to this year's dinner.

LIQUOR PLEBISCITE

Sir,—No one is justified in making misleading statements in order to obtain signatures to the petition being circulated in respect of the new type liquor licenses.

It should be made clear that those circulating the petition are not governmental enumerators, and that no signature is necessary to ensure the individual right of franchise on this as any other matter.

I notice, with a great deal of interest, that those seeking signatures to this petition are stressing beer parlors. I understand from the management of the main hotels in Victoria that they are only interested in being able to supply a drink with meals or in suitable cocktail bars. Why mislead the public with talk about beer parlors when that has already been rejected by the electors. We voted for a change from our outmoded methods, let us have it.

C. G. HEISTERMAN.

WATER POLLUTION

Sir,—Anent: the Vancouver Water Board deciding against highways through watershed, and their argument on the consequent probability of pollution to any feeder of the city's domestic water system. We on this Island can endorse their stand, for we know from experience just how waterways adjacent to a highway are polluted or at any rate rendered unpalatable.

Last year, tons of smelly chemical spray were used by the public works and the power commission to kill the weeds, trees bordering the right of way. This spraying seems to be the most practical way to keep things clear. But it is regrettable that it plays havoc with our streams, and possibly with fish-life and fish-food in the streams and ponds; for in the end these tons of chemical are dumped into the lakes and ponds.

Highways are ditched on both sides. These ditches connect with the creeks. The luxuriant growth along these ditches are given an extra dowsing of poison spray. What spray isn't immediately carried off in the ditch water sticks to the foliage perhaps for a week or a month, until a rain comes, and down it is washed and is carried off to the stream on its trip to the sea.

Bowser, B.C. S. MELVILLE COOK.

Idle Lands

By FRANK KELLEY

DURING several days recently members of the Natural Resources Conference met in Victoria and discussed matters pertinent to the development of British Columbia. Not the least important subject under review had to do with human resources and the part these represented in the development of any area. Naturally some trite observations were expressed concerning the disposition of population throughout the province.

It was disclosed that 55 per cent at least of the province's human resources are domiciled in the southwest corner of British Columbia. Census figures were quoted. This was not something to be altogether happy about, it was conceded; and while British Columbia is making great strides industrially, no determined attempts are being made to capitalize on the limited agricultural areas and keep pace with industrial growth by assisting settlers who might be eager to do some pioneering for the general good of the province as well as themselves.

* * *

British Columbia's agricultural lands are not extensive. Yet there are districts where the land is fertile and responsive to tillage. Such districts should be available to any and all eager to set down some roots agriculturally. Take Vancouver Island, for example. According to our Island chambers of commerce and tourist bureaus, the Island is a highly desirable bit of real estate in most respects.

From what I have seen of the Island it is safe to state many pioneer-minded folk would welcome the chance to pre-empt a bit of it for farming purposes and develop it accordingly. Then why, with a lot of acreage lying idle here and there, are not some real efforts being made to locate soil-tillers thereon? At their last annual meeting the Island's combined chambers of commerce endorsed a resolution of the Tofino chamber asking that certain lands on Clayoquot Sound be taken out of forest reserve and made available to settlers disposed to cultivate it.

* * *

If the reports of surveyors we are privileged to peruse in old issues of "British Columbia Sessional Papers" are reliable, one wonders why these same pastoral lands on Vancouver Island have not been made available for settlement instead of being held in the same state as they were over 50 years ago, when on the strength of those same surveyors' reports some settlers were located and left to their own resources, with broken promises pertaining to road building.

In his report for the year 1892, Tom Kains, then surveyor-general of this province, cites progress to Hon. Forbes Vernon, chief commissioner of lands, as follows: "Messrs. Herman and Hawkins have continued the survey work commenced last year (1891) at the extreme north end of Vancouver Island, and have subdivided into sections a large tract of land, which they report as being eminently suitable for agriculture and cattle raising. Numerous applications respecting this tract of country have been received and doubtless many will be forwarded to that portion of the province."

* * *

In that same issue of "Sessional Papers" Herman and Hawkins implement the surveyor-general's report by referring to work done in some 10 townships and fractions thereof. They paint an attractive picture of the whole, and summing up state grazing land amounting to 143,180 acres, as well as some 12,700 acres of agriculture land, existing, while many more acres could be brought under cultivation reasonably. If true, why is this area of land still lying idle?

Reports from Ottawa

PARLIAMENT is primarily a forum of opinion, but some of the most interesting opinions held by MPs in the Commons never get recorded in Hansard.

For instance, not long ago an important Liberal MP confirmed what I had long suspected — that when Senator Ross Macdonald was speaker of the Commons two years ago, he had come within a hairsbreadth of being chosen as our first Canadian governor-general.

"Without detracting from Governor-General Massey," the MP said, "I don't think there's any doubt that if the selection had been left to the Commons, Macdonald would have been chosen. But that wouldn't happen today."

He went on to explain that in his opinion Macdonald has lost a considerable amount of the really remarkable popularity he enjoyed as speaker. He said that many Liberal back benchers resent Macdonald's recent appointment as solicitor-general. They don't think Prime Minister St. Laurent should go outside the Commons, and least of all to the Senate, to get men for cabinet posts. But I'm sure no Liberal would dare say so in the House.

Logically, of course, any criticism should be directed at the PM, who made the appointment, and not against Macdonald, who only accepted the proffered post. But among Liberals St. Laurent is virtually sacrosanct, and so the man who almost became governor-general reaps the crop of back-bench resentment.

* * *

The measure of St. Laurent's firm control over his Grit MPs is the fact that he can almost do what he pleases, and at worst evoke only a murmur from his back benchers. Even Mackenzie King, whose political stature the passing years are slowly diminishing, couldn't command such docility from his parliamentary supporters.

How can one explain this? Partly, I think, because most Liberals consider St. Laurent's leadership indispensable to the party. The election results in 1949 and 1953 nurtured this idea. Thus a Liberal MP thinking in terms of his personal re-election prospects four years hence might overlook much in a leader who could virtually guarantee him another term in Parliament at $10,000 a year.

So he only mutters a little when a Pickersgill is plucked from the civil service or a Macdonald from the Senate to fill a cabinet post which some Grit back bencher (preferably he) might have got.

* * *

The opinion actually voiced in the Commons is usually constrained by politics and tempered by tact. Rarely do private MPs express opinions materially different from their parties' views. This is so true that the few exceptions are noteworthy: Ross Thatcher, the prairie hardware tycoon who sits as a socialist; Dave Croll, the left wing Liberal, and Wes Stuart, the Commons' only confessed free trader.

In the Senate it's different. There hasn't been a straight party line vote in the Upper House for at least 16 years. A few Grit senators can usually be counted on to pick flaws in government proposals with apparently little thought of political consequences—for example, Tom Crerar, once a minister in King's government, and Arthur Roebuck, once Mitch Hepburn's attorney-general.

And if you'd been in the Senate chamber last week, you'd have heard, a Conservative, Senator R. B. Horner, arguing that St. Laurent should be knighted!

But the prestige of the Senate is so low, and its powers so atrophied from disuse, that the government, the Commons and the people seldom seem impressed by what the senators have to say.

Immigrants and Jobs

(From The Brantford Expositor)

IT IS NOT too surprising to find someone expressing the opinion that immigrants to Canada are taking jobs which might otherwise be held by native-born or established citizens.

The logic of this, of course, is false. If this belief had been put into strict practice, Canada's population would be much smaller than it is now — and it is still much too small. Indeed, strict adherence to such a philosophy would have resulted in the first settlers rigidly barring entry to any others—provided the first settlers had been permitted by the Indians to establish homes on these shores!

The Peterborough Examiner is with us in this. "We have not heard this view expressed widely or with any particular conviction," it says, "but we have heard it. It is a familiar point of view and a mistaken one. It is, furthermore, an opinion which ill becomes any Canadian, for we were all immigrants at one time — ourselves, or our parents, or our grandparents—and our country has been made by immigrants. Immigrants take jobs, certainly, but they also make jobs. They need houses, furnishings, food and all the necessities of life, as well as some of it's luxuries. The immigrant who has a job is both a producer and a consumer. . . . If he succeeds in earning his living, he is at least paying his way; if he thrives, he will in time create jobs for other people."

Canada can't stand still, has no intention of standing still. New avenues of enterprise have opened of late and more will open in the early future. Such a country needs more, not fewer, immigrants; indeed it is ridiculous and dangerously underpopulated at present, and this is reflected in a domestic market which is so small as to hamper industry.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

THE two once noble rivers that flow through the rapidly expanding city of Toronto are now tragic vestiges. One is a sour sewer, the Don. The other, the Humber, rages like a lion in the spring flood, and then subsides into a polluted, junk strewn runnel, trickling over its greasy stones. A banks I encountered a hermit named Pierce who lived in a shanty hidden amidst the wild grapes and willow tangles that still clothe the poor river's margins. A bearded old nature-boy, he knew every bird and plant that still survives there, and remembered those that are gone.

"You would hardly believe," he told me, "how beautiful this river was in the 80s and the 90s. In late April and very early May, the trailing arbutus was so thick on these river-banks that on windless early mornings and just before sunset the perfume would float down onto the river as though it were a mist or fog of almost delirious scent. On week-ends, at that season of year, the people would come out the three or four miles from Toronto and rent boats at the mouth of the Humber to come up and picnic here, a sort of arbutus festival.

"When they went home, they took their picnic baskets full of arbutus with them. What harm could that do? The river's shores were carpeted with the flower.

"Today you can walk these banks from the mouth to the source, and never find a single blossom of arbutus. Of course, the city has grown out far past the Humber now. In Junes when the city was only a smoke smudge on the horizon, we had all the orchids here, too, the moccasin flower, the showy lady's slipper, both the yellow lady's slippers, the marvellous little showy orchids—like a tiny nun walking under the beeches. They and the arbutus all went together, as though at a signal."

Any young cities or towns that have rivers still, might like to know about this. They might like to watch for that signal. It might be like a tune, maybe the one the Pied Piper played.

Britain's Air Defense

BRITAIN'S defense estimates for 1954-55 provide for an expenditure of £491,000,000 for the air force out of a total defense budget of £1,640,000,000. Aircraft form the largest single item in expenditure on production, accounting for £156,000,000.

Over four-fifths of this money will be spent on jet aircraft, and over half of it on jet bombers and swept wing fighters. There will be large deliveries of Swift and Hunter fighters during the coming year, and deliveries of the first V-class bombers, the four-jet Valiant.

Three of the Royal Navy's new aircraft carriers now under construction are expected to be completed in the coming year. They will be fitted with the angled deck, the steam catapult and improved arresting gear. About £25,000,000 is being spent on naval aircraft, about a third as much again as last year. The development and introduction of helicopters for naval work is proceeding.

The government's defense policy, which foresees a gradual change in "the direction and balance" of Britain's defense effort, will mean that still greater emphasis will be placed on the Royal Air Force because of the need to build up a strategic bomber force and because of the importance of guided missiles in air defense. This new emphasis, says the government, will take some time to reveal itself as increased allocations of funds to the Air Ministry.

Atomic weapons are in production in Britain now and delivery to the air force has begun. The atomic bomb remains "the primary deterrent to aggression", states the minister of defense. "We intend as soon as possible to build up in the Royal Air Force a force of modern bombers capable of using the atomic weapon to the fullest effect. A strong and efficient force of medium bombers is of the greatest importance to us, both for our own security and for the defense of Western Europe . . . the air force has the major deterrent role."

Guided missiles have now reached an advanced stage of development. The past year has seen the successful testing of experimental rockets at Woomera. These trials foreshadow the most important developments in air defense since the invention of radar. "The first of these weapons will be air-to-air missiles launched from piloted fighters; they will be fitted to the Swifts and Hunters now being introduced to air force squadrons, thus replacing the standard aircraft cannon and making the fighter as a lethal weapon something like four times as efficient. Following these air-to-air weapons will be surface-to-air weapons. The statement by the secretary of state for air makes it clear, however, that when the first ground-launched weapons are introduced "they will supplement, and not supplant, the piloted aircraft."

Car Dealers Oppose Increased Sales Tax

Opposition to any increase in the sales tax was expressed by Logan Mayhew, chairman of the Victoria branch of the Motor Dealers' Association of B.C., at a meeting yesterday with four local MLAs.

Attending were W. N. Chant (SC, Victoria), Mrs. Lydia Arsens (SC, Victoria), P. A. Gibbs (Lib., Oak Bay) and H. J. Bruch (SC, Esquimalt.

Mr. Mayhew asked the MLAs whether the report that sales tax was going to be increased to 5 per cent, or if this was merely a rumor.

NO ANSWER

The Social Credit members attending declined to answer.

Mr. Mayhew then explained that the opposition to any increase in sales tax was not confined to the sale of automobiles.

"We are against any increase in this tax because it would restrict the purchasing power of the public generally," he said.

Speaking for the 10 Victoria members of the Motor Dealers' Association of B.C., Mr. Mayhew said that between them they had contributed $305,348 in sales tax alone to the B.C. government in 1953.

R. B. Wilson estimated the total sales tax paid for cars in the Victoria area to be more than $1,000,000 a year, taking used car dealers into consideration as well.

HIGH PERCENTAGE

Another member, Harry Gladwell, reckoned that 28 per cent of B.C.'s income was extracted from motorists.

Mr. Mayhew warned MLAs that if any further taxation was imposed upon the B.C. motorist already the highest taxed in Canada—the law of diminishing returns would become effective, and everyone would lose.

Business Men Against Reported BCHIS Plan

Victoria business men are "most loathe" to see the cost of hospital insurance derived from general revenue, the local Chamber of Commerce said yesterday in a protest to Premier Bennett on reports the three per cent sales tax is to be increased.

The business men generally agree BCHIS has been a desirable form of insurance which [illegible] derived from general revenue the whole principle under which the service was established is ignored, the chamber said.

NO SAVING

The average citizen realizes that no saving to the public can accrue by any form of business taxation. "Any tax levied against commerce to cover the BCHIS will surely be passed on to the consumer. The obtaining of tax funds by hidden means is to be decried at any time and should not be extended," the chamber letter added.

By increasing taxation and raising the ultimate prices, the government is encouraging purchases to be made outside the province and also will cause increased buyer resistance, it was claimed.

AFFECT TOURISTS

Another detrimental effect of higher prices would be the reluctance of tourists to spend money for goods in the province [illegible] chased at equilvalent prices in their own country, the chamber added.

Montreal Bonds

MONTREAL (CP)—Prices held steady in quiet trading on Montreal bond markets today. On the corporate side trading was slow with new General Motors acceptance issue a shade higher.

Vancouver Aid to Jobless Attracts Interest Here

No move has yet been made here to set up a city-provincial benefit scheme for unemployed as as yet undetermined sum each month until they find work.

William Hooson, city welfare administrator, declared, however, that he would be interested in seeing such a scheme established.

Final details of the new type of benefit plan were completed Thursday in Vancouver by civic, provincial and Community Chest officials.

It covers workers not eligible for unemployment insurance because of the nature of their former jobs.

If they can prove they have no money for food, they will get an as yet undetermined sum each month until they find work.

The present social service program in Vancouver allows only destitute who cannot work through disability to qualify for benefits. Some 2,000 in Vancouver now receive such aid, $62.50 a month to a family of two, plus $12.50 for each additional dependent.

Under the new scheme, married men with families will be considered for assistance before single men. All will be carefully screened for eligibility.

W. M. Allester, 70, Dies at Chemainus

William Mackie Allester, 70, vice-president of the Chemainus Chamber of Commerce and active in community affairs in that town for the last 30 years, died in Chemainus Hospital yesterday.

Moving to Chemainus 30 years ago, Mr. Allester was a past master of Chemainus Lodge 114, AF and AM, and senior adviser and life-member of Chemainus Teen Town.

He was active in musical activities in the district and was choirmaster of the Anglican Church. He was also a past-president of the Chemainus Recreation Club.

Born in London, England, Mr. Allester arrived in Canada 50 years ago, and lived in Vernon and Ladysmith before moving to Chemainus.

Surviving are his widow, Geraldine; four sons, Gerald D of Qualicum, Thomas of Nanaimo, William V. of Duncan, and Patrick L. of Chemainus; four sisters, and five grandchildren.

Funeral services, under the auspices of the Chemainus Lodge, AF and AM will take place at 1:30 p.m. Monday at St. Michael and All Angels Church, Chemainus, Rev. Allan G. Howes officiating. Arrangements will be handled by the Hirst Funeral Parlor, Duncan.

Fishermen Ask Coverage Under Compensation Act

Coverage of B.C. fishermen by the Workmen's Compensation Act was requested yesterday by a delegation from the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union.

The delegation met the provincial cabinet and presented a brief yesterday morning.

The brief outlined additional costs involved if coverage was extended to those fishermen not presently covered by the act.

It states that six out of 10 fatal accidents in B.C. fishing are not covered by the act. Additional cost to the province would be $274,000 a year.

Municipal Institute Planned

First Municipal Institute ever held in B.C. will take place this year in the Law Building at the University of British Columbia from June 2 to 5.

The institute, organized by the UBC School of Commerce, at the request of the department of municipal affairs, will be attended by some 60 persons holding municipal office throughout the province or working for the municipal affairs department. It is part of an extension course in municipal administration carried on throughout the year by the commerce school leading to junior and senior diplomas in municipal administration.

Students who attend the institute at UBC will take lectures in accounting, administration and municipal law for two days and write examinations on the year's work on the following two days.

Sidney Gets Jersey Award

The only Vancouver Island award granted by the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club has gone to Branckenhurst farm, Sidney.

The record of Brackenhurst Favorite Marie has again qualified the farm for a 4,000 pound butterfat certificate, the club announced.

Other B.C. awards in the production class went to Frasea farms, Sea Island; A. E. Dumvill, Sardis; W. H. Savage, Ladner; C. E. Hagesitein, Langley, and the Quaiding herd at Yarrow.

Tourists Increase, Bring Fewer Cars

There were fewer cars visited Victoria in 1953 than in 1952 but the number of passengers was up by nearly 3,000, publicity commissioner George I. Warren said in his annual report.

This, he said, was an indication of the displeasure tourists receive the high cost of car transportation to Victoria.

There were 65,617 cars brought to Victoria as compared to 68,286 in 1952, but last year they brought 197,392 passengers compared to 194,637 in 1952.

MARKED INCREASE

In the number of cars transported to the Island there was a marked increase, however, but he pointed out that much of the credit for this must go to the new Black Ball-Ferry service at Nanaimo.

There were 151,088 cars visited the island last year compared with 128,345 cars in 1952.

He paid tribute to the new Nanaimo service of the Black Ball line and to the CPR for its new service to Port Angeles.

The bureau will continue to emphasize the need to develop travel between the Olympic

It will also urge the importance of holding the rates for automobiles to a minimum. He felt cost of transporting cars to the Island was a retarding factor.

Augmented service by Trans Canada Airlines between Victoria and Vancouver and between Victoria and Seattle was commended.

Bureau president Major Cuthbert Holmes paid tribute to the bulldog watchfulness of the commissioner, George I. Warren.

MUCH LITERATURE

He pointed out that 280,000 pieces of literature had been sent out from the bureau last year. That was more than 1,000 pieces every working day, he pointed out.

In 1953 the bureau recorded 106,178 visitors against 1952's total of 80,714. In the months of July and August 68,226 visitors availed themselves of the services of the bureau.

Committee Plans Study Of Indians' Problems

A six-man committee, three of whom will be Indians, will meet here for four days next week to discuss the overall problems of B.C. Indians.

The discussions, beginning Tuesday, will centre around the high rate of juvenile delinquency and legal aid for Indians, Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said yesterday.

Mr. Wicks said there appears to be a high rate of delinquency among Indians of the province, particularly among girls.

LONG FIGHT

The legal aid question is one Indians have fought for a long time.

They feel, the labor minister said, that more serious cases should get the best possible defense in the courts.

The six-man committee, comprised of Professor Ellis Morrow, Vancouver; Capt. Charles Gates, North Vancouver; Lawrence Guichon, Merritt; Chief W. Scow, Alert Bay; Edward Bolton, Port Essington, and Ernest Brewer, Vernon, will be introduced to Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace Tuesday afternoon.

MINISTER TO ATTEND

Health and Welfare Minister W. A. Goodfellow of Ontario will attend one session of the meetings here next week.

Mr. Wicks said the Ontario government may consider similar legislation if Mr. Goodfellow considers the talks beneficial.

Labor Men Patrolling Legislation

Joint action has begun by TLC-CCL and the standard railways joint legislative committee towards patrolling labor act amendments going before the Legislature.

Representatives of the three groups were in Victoria this week, interviewing government officials and arranging for a mass meeting of trade unionists to study the amendments when they are announced.

James Barton, Trades Union Congress (TLC) president, said Wednesday night the groups had received assurance from Premier Bennett and Labor Minister Lyle Wicks that amendments to various acts would be tabled in the house soon after each other. They did not say when that would be, he added.

The unions probably would have a week to study the proposals, Mr. Barton said. MLA's will be invited to attend the mass meeting to hear opinions expressed.

TUC secretary, R. K. Gervin, urged the council and local unions to send as many delegates as possible to the meeting, which will be announced as soon as legislation is introduced.

Bound For Korea

The 2nd Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, commanded by Lieut.-Col. W. H. V. Matthews, M.C., of Cowichan, will leave Seattle soon for service in the Far East.

Lieut.-Col. Matthews will go by air.

The men are among 8,000 who will replace members of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade in Korea and Japan, who have completed their 12-month tour.

In Police Court Yesterday

Fine for Driver Follows Accident

Edward C. Winterburn, 3400 Douglas Street, pleaded guilty to a careless driving in city police court yesterday and was fined $50 or seven days.

He was forbidden to drive, except for business, for six months.

He had hit a pedestrian on Douglas at Market on February 26 and carried him 61 feet from the point of impact.

"I believe there was a little carelessness on the part of the pedestrian," he told Magistrate H. C. Hall.

"That wouldn't have anything to do with you," was the quick reply.

FOUND GUILTY

Robert J. Smith, 1121 Faithful, was found guilty of careless driving and fined $35 or five days.

He was involved in a collision at Superior and Government Streets.

Also on a careless driving charge, Gordon L. Hunter pleaded guilty and was fined $35 or five days and will be permitted to drive only for business for a month.

He was involved in a collision at Caledonia and Cook and claimed a parked truck had blocked his vision.

A 38-year clean driving record didn't help James Lomas, 1893 Hollywood Crescent, who was fined $35 or five days for not having a driver's license.

Mallock Plans To Appeal Long Sentence

George Mallock, recently sentenced to 28 years in prison after being found guilty on three narcotics charges in Vancouver, will appeal the sentence at Court of Appeal in Victoria in April.

Mallock was convicted on the charges Monday and sentenced to 21 years and fines totaling $17,000 or seven additional years.

Wider Use of Probation Urged

Probation instead of prison sentences in more cases was urged by J. A. Edmison, QC, at a meeting of the Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Edmison, assistant principal of Queen's University at Kingston, Ont., and a long-time worker for the John Howard Society who has spent many years studying penology, thought it was "distressing to see in jail in Canada people who should be on probation."

By 1950 statistics, he said, England and Wales, out of a population of 41,657,000, had 34,825 in prison.

Canada, with a 14,000,000 population, had 98,602 in prison. "Surely Canadians aren't 10 times more criminal," he said.

Payments of fines by installment in England and Wales was one of the reasons there were fewer in prison, he said.

"In Canada those who can't pay fines go to jail, ever after to be classed as jailbirds."

In England and Wales in 1950 there were 33,939 on probation and only 3,361 on probation in Canada.

He noted that British Columbia was one of two Canadian provinces doing something about probation.

He quoted a Colonist story which said Magistrate H. C. Hall had given an 18-year-old boy a six-month suspended sentence after studying a probation report.

"I am afraid if that young man had appeared in many places in Canada he would have gone to jail. More than 96,000 go to jail every year in Canada," he said.

He described the penitentiary training centre at Kingston.

Hobbies, recreation and trade courses have done much to greatly improve penitentiary morale, he said. Penitentiary offenses have dropped almost out of sight because of the new morale.

Trade courses completed in the penitentiary give a man credit on the outside. One long-term prisoner, who went in almost illiterate, now has 14 courses toward a BA degree, he said.

Alberni Forward Gets Shot Away

Alberni High School's Ray Gailloux goes up for shot during torrid action of semi-final game between up-Island team and Esquimalt Dockers at Victoria High gym last night. Mike Lowry of Esquimalt (arm outstretched) trys in vain to check Alberni player, while Alberni's Bert Ward (5) and Dockers' Gary Gilbert (12) wait under hoop for possible rebound. Dockers pulled upset of tourney by edging defending Colonist Cup champions, 43-42.

Friday's scores: New Westminster 1 at VICTORIA 8, Seattle 1 at Vancouver 4.

Next games tonight: Seattle at VICTORIA, Vancouver at New Westminster, Edmonton at Calgary.

BY JIM TANG

Victoria Cougars, rolling along in fine style as the Western Hockey League schedule nears its end, won their sixth game of their last seven, clinched a playoff spot, and exacted some measure of revenge last night as they thumped a listless New Westminster team, 8-1, before 4,141 at Memorial Arena.

Royals, who have picked up 19 of their 56 points at the expense of the Cougars, winning nine and tying one of the previous 14 games, were set back on their heels by an opening Victoria rush and never did get straightened out. But for the exceptional goaling of big Lucien Dechene, the Cougars might easily have set a new league record.

Victory boosted the Cougars six points ahead of the sixth-place Royals, within one point of the fourth-place Edmonton Flyers and within five points of the third-place Saskatoon Quakers. The Islanders have two games in hand on Flyers and one on Quakers. The Cougars could balance their season's record tonight by besting the Seattle Bombers at Memorial Arena and if the Calgary Stampeders can outscore the Flyers, it would also mean fourth spot.

It was strictly no contest last night as the Cougars, showing some fine passing touches, poured rubber at Dechene right from the first faceoff. It took 89 seconds and about eight shots before Colin Kilburn opened the scoring. Eight minutes and 11 seconds later it was 5-0 and the game was over except for additional target practice for the winners.

DECHENE STARS

Dechene was the only Royal who deserves mention, and he deserves plenty. A pressbox count had him credited with 29 saves in the first period although the goal judge had only 14. Dechene was at his best, however, in the second period as he held the Cougars scoreless with a great display by blocking 29 shots. He wound up with a total, goal-judge count, of 49 stops and the Cougars hit the piping at least six times.

At the other end, the smaller edition of Dechene, Cougars' Claude Evans, had only 16 shots to handle. But Evans had to be better than the statistics indicate as the Cougars sometimes grew careless in clearing to give Royals some good chances. It was sloppy clearing which gave Gordie Fashoway the shot for the goal which deprived Evans of his first shutout. But Evans has won six of seven games in the WHL and given up only 18 goals, seven of them in his losing game.

BRIEF ACTION

Victoria-coach Billy Reay and Doug Anderson only saw action for two minutes as penalty-killers as Reay sent out Reg Abbott between Doug Macauley and Andy Hebenton and kept the Ed Dorohoy-Sam Bettio-Alex Kuzma and Gene Achtymichuk-Colin Kilburn-Bill Sinnett lines intact.

Dorohoy, still intent on his second scoring championship, picked up his 25th goal and three assists to boost his point total to 73, six less than leader Guyle Fielder, held pointless last night. Bettio got his 21st and 22nd goals and picked up an assist while Kuzma scored once and helped out twice while missing four or five other chances.

GOING GREAT

But it was the Achtymichuk-Kilburn - Sinnett trio which caught the eye. Going great since Kilburn was moved alongside the rookies, it scored the first three goals, got four altogether and picked up a total of 10 points. Kilburn got his 18th and 19th goals and two assists and his linemates each had a goal and two assists.

SUMMARY

First period—1, Victoria, Kilburn (Achtymichuk, Sinnett) 1.29; 2, Victoria, Sinnett (Kilburn), 3.84; 3, Victoria, Achtymichuk (Lowe, Kilburn), 3.34; 4, Victoria, Kuzma (Dorohoy, Bettio), 7.05; 5, Victoria, Bettio (Dorohoy, Macauley), 9.40. No penalties.

Second period—Scoring none. Penalties—Schneider 12.26, Bedard 17.19.

Third period—6, Victoria, Kilburn (Sinnett, Achtymichuk), .09; 7, Victoria, E. Dorohoy (Kuzma, Lowe), 2.30; 8, New Westminster, Fashoway (McNab, Boyce), 8.34; 9, Victoria, Bettio (E. Dorohoy, Kuzma), 17.00. Penalties—None.

Stops—Evans, 6-3-4—13; Dechene, 14-23-12—49.

Knocked Out; Wins Match

CHATHAM, England, (AP)—Freddy French and Jack Bringate both swung a mighty punch in an amateur boxing match Thursday night — and knocked each other out cold.

The referee calmly counted both of them out. Then he lifted Bringate's hand as the winner.

He had been leading on points.

Bombers a Big Help To Hopeful Canucks

Vancouver Canucks moved back into a tie with Calgary Stampeders last night at Vancouver by handing their favorite opponents, the last-place Seattle Bombers, a 4-1 thumping at Vancouver.

Canucks and Stamps both have 77 points but Canucks have a game in hand and slightly the better of the schedule in remaining games. The Vancouver team plays at New Westminster twice and Victoria once and is at home to Saskatoon, New Westminster and Seattle in its six games. Stamps have four of their five games at home but two are against the tough Edmonton Flyers and they play the Flyers a third game at Edmonton. Their other home games are against Seattle and Victoria.

Minus Wiggie Wylie and Fred Brown, the Canucks still had too much for the Bombers in a listless game played before about 2,500 fans. They took a 3-0 lead in the first period, added the only goal of the second period, and coasted in. It was the 11th win in 15 games against Seattle, in which the Canucks have managed 25 of the 30 points.

SUMMARY

First period—1, Vancouver, Rouse (Lancien, Kaiser) 8.28; 2, Vancouver, Hickey (McCullough, Stanley) 9.10; 3, Vancouver, Adam (Kaiser, Popein) 11.09. Penalties: Lancien 14.20, Zeniuk 19.18.

Second period—4, Vancouver, Kaiser (Popein, Adam) 5.18. Penalty: Davidson 14.14.

Third period—5, Seattle, Marquess (Lofvendahl) 17.29. Penalties: Zeniuk 8.11, Popein 8.07.

Eaglettes Win Title Series From Alberni

A looping long shot by Shirley Jones with but 18 seconds remaining at Alberni last night gave Victoria Eaglettes a 52-50 victory over Alberni in a two-game, total-point series for the Vancouver Island juvenile girls' basketball championship.

Although the Alberni girls won last night's contest, 27-26, the margin was not enough to overcome the three-point margin Eaglettes earned by their 26-23 triumph in the opening game of the series at Victoria High School Wednesday night.

Eaglettes now meet the Mainland winners in a series to decide the provincial title.

McMorrans Seek To Make Up Point

McMorrans will travel to Cumberland today to meet the Up-Island squad in the second game of a two-game, total-point series for the Vancouver Island juvenile boys' basketball championship tonight at 9 p.m.

McMorrans will be seeking to make up a one-point deficit, the Up-Island team winning the opener earlier this week at Sooke by a 37-36 count.

Esquimalt Upsets Alberni In High School Hoop Meet; To Meet Victoria for Title

BY IAN GLENDAY

A fired-up Esquimalt High School team pulled the biggest upset in the four-year history of the Vancouver Island high school basketball tournament at Victoria High School gym Friday night by nipping defending champion Alberni High School, 43-42, in a thriller right down to the wire.

GREAT RECORD ENDS

Bill Marshall's up-Island team, which had compiled a 16-1 record this season and had never been beaten in the Island championships, almost caught the fast-tiring Docker squad but time ran out. And with it went a chance for Alberni's fourth straight Colonist Cup.

In the other semi-final game of the action-filled night for a packed gym of students, Victoria High Totems moved into the final for the fourth successive year and made it with comparative ease, coming up with a great dipslay in knocking off highly-rated Courtenay High School, 65-41.

Alberni had gained the semi-finals by disposing of a tough Mount View High quintet, 49-39, in the opening game of the eight-game card, and the Totems had little trouble with Lake Cowichan in the first round, racking up a lop-sided 54-17 decision.

Undoubtedly the high point of a thrill-a-moment day was Dockers stirring victory over Alberni—first defeat in 11 tourney starts during the past four years. Esquimalt had gained the round of four by brushing past Cowichan High of Duncan, 61-41, after being held well in check during the first two quarters.

CLOSE ALL THE WAY

Only seven players saw action for Esquimalt but all of them probably played "the game of their lives." There was never more than six points difference during the game with the winners out in front most of the way but almost throwing it away in the dying moments.

It was 9-7 for Esquimalt after the first quarter and 21-17 for the winners at half time. Dockers carried a two-point lead into the final frame and were leading 41-36 with about three minutes remaining.

Two quick baskets and a foul shot brought the never-say-die Alberni squad to within one point but Chuck Bennett broke away to score on a layup to offset a desperation shot by Tom Watts with 10 seconds remaining.

Mike Lowry and Gary Gilbert were the sparkplugs of the winners, scoring 12 and 11 points, respectively, while Ray Gailloux topped the losers, who lost two players by the foul route in the hectic fourth quarter, with 12 points.

TOTEMS GOOD

Totems looked impressive in their two one-sided victories, pouring it on against Courtenay. The Towhees had reached the semi-finals by dumping Oak Bay for the third time this season, this time by a 56-39 count.

But the losers couldn't match Totems' superior bench strength as Porky Andrews played his second string for most of the second half, giving Ed Pederson, first-string centre who is suffering from a leg injury, a rest in the final two quarters.

In consolation games, Oak Bay came back to defeat Lake Cowichan, 64-49 with Colin Creighton scoring 19 points for the winners. Mount View won its second-round game by edging past Cowichan High, 50-46.

FOUR STRAIGHT

It will be the fifth meeting this season between Totems and Esquimalt. Victoria High has won four straight times by point spreads of 12, 7, 5 and one point but the Dockers, on the basis of Friday's performance, should give stiff opposition.

Cowichan and Lake Cowichan will meet to decide seventh and eighth places at 6 p.m.; Oak Bay and Mount View meet to decide fourth and sixth places one hour later; Alberni and Courtenay tangle for third and fifth places at 8 p.m. with the final set for 9.15 p.m.

Eilers Take Thumping From Athletics, 72-53

ALBERNI — Alberni Athletics, revelling in the role of underdog grabbed a one-game lead in the best-of-seven playoff for the British Columbia senior "A" men's basketball championship by thumping the powerful Vancouver Eilers, 72-53, at Alberni Athletic Hall Friday night.

The A's, conquerors of Victoria Kins in the Island playdowns, jumped into an early lead over their favored opponents and were in front, 16-8 at the quarter.

Eilers made their best showing in the second quarter as they outscored Alberni by a single point to end the first half trailing, 31-24. But from then on it was all Alberni.

Referees Tore Larson of Vancouver and Bob Webster of Victoria had their hands full in the fast-moving game but Pickel was the only player to foul out.

Second game of the series will be played at Alberni Athletic Hall tonight.

COACH SHOWS WAY

Led by the sparkling play of playing coach Elmer Speidel, the A's roared into a 55-39 lead at the three-quarter mark and were able to breeze through the final quarter.

Speidel was a tower of strength for his club, leading the scorers with 19 points, 13 in the second half, and turning in a great playmaking game. Al Brown also sparkled for the winners, dunking 16 points in a fine all-round effort.

STOP PICKEL

Eilers' big scoring gun, Bob Pickel, was stopped by the close-checking Alberni defense that effectively bottled up Kins' Johnny Clark in the Island series. Pickel dropped only 11 points before fouling out in the fourth quarter. High scorer for the losers was forward Reid Mitchell with 14 points.

Lineups follow:

Alberni—Brown 16, Speidel 19, Kermode 13, Brinham 12, Samarin 7, Williamson 2, Veitch 2, Grisdale 2, Mosdell 1, Gray. Total—72.

Eilers—Mitchell 14, Pickel 11, Wall 8, Munro 8, Ball 6, Moses 3, Chapman 1, Wotherspoon 1, Forsythe 1, Manning. Total—53.

Faces Cougars

GUYLE FIELDER

Western Hockey League's top scorer, clever Seattle centre Guyle Fielder will be in action at Memorial Arena tonight when Bombers meet Victoria Cougars at 8.30 p.m. Seattle has been all but mathematically eliminated from playoff berth but will be out to spoil Victoria's bid for higher position in league. Fielder plays on line with Wayne Brown and Dave Wall and is dangerous every time he is out on the ice.

New York	63	25	28	10	144	168	60
Chicago	63	11	45	7	117	207	28

Friday night's score: New York 0 at Chicago 0.

Next games tonight: Boston at Montreal, Detroit at Toronto.

New York Rangers lost a chance to climb over Boston Bruins into fourth place in the National Hockey League at Chicago last night when they were held to a scoreless draw by the last-place Black Hawks.

New York's single point moved the Rangers into a fourth-place tie with the Bruins, who have two games in hand. Boston could take over sole position of the NHL's last playoff berth tonight when it plays the Canadiens at Montreal.

It was the fourth shutout of the season for each goalie and Johnny Bower of the Rangers has picked up three of his blankings against the Black Hawks, who collected their 28th of a possible 126 points so far.

However, Bower had a rougher time as he was called upon to make 37 stops compared with 27 handled by Al Rollins.

The game was slow for the most part, enlivened only by a third-period fist fight between Lee Foglin of Chicago and the Rangers' hard-hitting rookie defenseman Ivan Irwin. Both drew five-minute major penalties.

Otherwise, both teams resorted pretty much to cautious defensive hockey with the Rangers particularly taking no unnecessary chances.

First period—No scoring. No penalties.
Second period—No scoring. Penalties: Gadsby 3.47.
Third period—No scoring. Penalties: Foglin 3.22 major, Irwin 3.22 major.
Stops: Bower 13-16-8—37. Rollins 7, 13, 8—27.

Four Rinks Still Unbeaten In Duncan Bonspiel Play

Play moved smoothly yesterday through the second day of the annual Cowichan Curling Club bonspiel at Duncan and with last night's late draw unreported, had reached the eights in all events.

Four rinks remained undefeated and reached the eights of the Wright and Wadsworth Trophies, Nanaimo's Bob Fuller, Vancouver's L. C. Cooper, and Duncan's Glen Harper each won their first three games while Eric Bullock of Victoria advanced the same distance with three wins and a default. Knocked from the undefeated ranks yesterday were Duncan's Larry Marshall, who lost to Max Zabel of Victoria in the Wadsworth event, and Victoria's George Walkey, who bowed out of the Wadsworth when he was trimmed by Glen Harper.

In addition to the four undefeated rinks, Marshall and E. E. Valleau of Duncan, Walkey and Ed Davis of Port Alberni had reached the eights in the Wright Trophy and Charlie Strougler and Tony Folk of Duncan, Dr. Kirby Moysey of Victoria and Vic Buchanan of Youbou had reached the eights in the Wadsworth Trophy.

Rinks reaching the fours in either the Wadsworth, Wright, Chemainus or Cushnaugh-Riverside Trophies qualify for the Grand Challenge, which should see its first play some time today.

DeMarco Upsets Carter To Take Lightweight Title

BY MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — Bustling Paddy DeMarco, who appeared headed for boxing's scrap heap only five months ago, put on the greatest fight of his career Friday night to wrest the lightweight championship from 30-year-old Jimmy Carter in a sensational upset in Madison Square Garden.

A 4-to-1 underdog, the 26-year-old De Marco, who had never gone more than 10 rounds before in his nine-year career, won the 15-rounder with ease. The decision was unanimous and was met with a roar of approval by the slim crowd of 5,730 which paid $23,727.

The broad-shouldered, bow-legged Brooklyn battler out-hustled, outfought and outmanoeuvred the hard-hitting New York Negro. Paddy made Carter fight the way he wanted him to as he piled up points with a flicking left jab, flashing hooks and daring flurries.

CARTER'S EYE CUT

The crowd, quiet through the first few rounds, started to whoop it up when the bulling Brooklynite opened a cut over Jimmy's left eye with a smashing right. From the sixth on it was almost all DeMarco.

Carter, winning his last three title defenses by knockouts, pressed all the way trying for a kayo but he never dropped Paddy or came close to it.

DeMarco, backing, sidestepping and then whirling in for quick flurries, always managed to tie up Carter before the champion could unleash his power punches.

Shoot Carded At Gun Club

Victoria Gun Club will open the new season Sunday with a practice shoot at its Albert Head grounds. Both skeet and trap ranges will be in operation and visitors will be welcome. Starting time is 1 p.m.

Clark Trophy Tourney Set

Sandy Mitchell and Derek McCooey will be on hand to defend their championship in the Clark Trophy competition at the Gorge Vale Golf Club Sunday.

Draw and starting times follow:

9.00—T. MacIntyre and J. Hall vs. D. Burdon and J. Cox.
9.08—W. Rowe and J. Johnston vs. Bob Johnstone and T. Garnet.
9.16—A. Morrison and N. Hogan vs. O. Merrimen and B. Wakelin.
9.24—S. Mitchell and D. McCooey vs. J. Storrie and J. Robertson.
9.32—J. Carlow and Dan Carlow vs. Mel Carlow and Norm Boden.
Post entries will be accepted.

Haas Gains Golf Lead

HOUSTON (AP)—Freddie Haas of New Orleans Friday placed a rain-drenched 71 beside his first-round 67 to take the lead at the half-way mark in the $30,000 Houston open golf tournament.

Haas' six-under-par 138 for 36 holes left him one notch ahead of Jim Turnesa, Briarcliff, N.Y., who added a 70 to an opening round 69 that included a hole-in-one.

Defending champion Cary Middlecoff, opening-day leader with a 66, jumped to a 74 Friday to go into a six-way tie at 140.

Baldwin's Alberta Rink Captures Dominion Curling Championship

EDMONTON (CP) — Matt Baldwin, 27-year-old Edmonton draw artist, brought Alberta its fifth Canadian curling championship Friday when he won the 1954 championship here with a 10-5 victory over R. T. McCully's New Brunswick rink.

Baldwin, leading 9-5 with last rock coming home and with a New Brunswick rock in the rings, slid almost half way down the ice before releasing his rock, which went to the button behind the New Brunswick stone.

Immediately after the game, Baldwin and his Edmonton rink, which completed the 10 draws with the loss of only one game, were presented with the Brier Tankard, emblematic of Canadian curling supremacy, while 3,000 Edmontonians cheered.

It was the 20th time in 25 years of competition that the title has come west. Ab Gowanlock of Manitoba won the title in 1953. However, Manitoba turned in its worst showing in 25 years by finishing up with only four victories in 10 games.

POOR SHOWING

Observers who had expected veteran Jimmy Welsh's Manitoba rink to be a strong contender, were amazed by his rink's poor showing. Manitoba had won the championship 14 times in the last 24 years and Welsh had skipped the province to the title in the 1947 classic.

Finishing second among the 11 rinks competing was the Saskatchewan rink skipped by Garnet Campbell. The Campbell brothers from Avonlea were defeated by Alberta, 12-10, in the opening draw Monday and lost to Nova Scotia, 11-10, in the fourth draw but went through the remaining draws undefeated to compile an 8-2 record.

B.C. TIED FOR THIRD

Nova Scotia, skipped by Reg Piercy; British Columbia, represented by Bung Cartmell's rink from Vancouver and Northern Ontario, skipped by Don Groom of Sudbury, tied for third place with six victories and four losses apiece.

New Brunswick and Manitoba each had four victories and six defeats; Prince Edward Island and Quebec each won three and lost seven and Newfoundland, making its second start in the bonspiel, lost all 10 of its games.

LOST TO TOP RINKS

Cartmell couldn't defeat the top rinks, losing to Saskatchewan, Alberta, Northern Ontario and New Brunswick while defeating Quebec, Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island, Manitoba, Ontario and Nova Scotia. The B.C. rink closed out Friday by trimming Welsh, 14-8 and following up with an 11-8 victory over Prince Edward Island.

In the feature game of the day, McCully and Baldwin battled on even terms over six ends as they both favored a moderate running game. It was tied at 2-2 after five ends but Alberta got one in the fifth, two in the sixth and counted one in the seventh end to pull away.

Win Curling Crown

Young Alberta Skip Gains High Praise from Experts

EDMONTON (CP)—Alberta's fifth national curling championship was won by a young fellow who many believe to be about the hottest shot-maker to curl a stone in more years that they can remember.

Matt Baldwin, at 27, was the youngest skip competing in the Canadian curling championships here. He backed up Alberta's hopes by knocking over such veterans as Winnipeg's Jimmy Welsh and going for seven straight victories before being bumped by 71-year-old Ross Tarlton of Hamilton, Ont., in the eighth round Thursday.

FLAWLESS FASHION

Ken Watson of Winnipeg, a three-time Canadian curling champion, says Baldwin and his men have been performing in flawless fashion, both drawing and hitting with machine-like precision.

Watson had high praise for Baldwin's third stone, veteran Glenn Gray who skipped Alberta at the Canadian finals in Halifax in 1951.

"As the third goes, so goes the team," said Watson.

Baldwin's rink swept through 28 bonspiel and playoff games with only two defeats, one of them at the hands of veteran Cliff Manahan who won the Canadian championship twice for Alberta.

IRONIC TWIST

Ironically, all four members of the Baldwin rink are from outside the province. Baldwin himself hails from Blucher, Sask.; third Glenn Gray is from Regina; second Pete Ferry is from Outlook, Sask., and lead Jimmy Collins hails from Glenora, Man.

The Alberta champions have been together but a short time. Baldwin organized the four shortly before the opening of the northern Alberta competitions.

He had just won the grand aggregate of the Edmonton bonspiel. He took one member from that rink—Pete Ferry—and called in Gray and Collins.

"I lined up the boys shortly before the opening of the northern Alberta competition early in February," he said. "We played three games together and then went into the bonspiel."

They swept everything before them, winning the northern title and then knocking over other regional champions to take the all-Alberta title.

Soccer School Opens Today At City Parks

STOCKHOLM (CP)—A fighting Swedish hockey team tied Russia 1-1 Friday night and shifted the pressure onto Moscow Dynamos in their pay-off game with Canada Sunday for the world title.

Both the Dynamos and Toronto East York are unbeaten in six games. But Friday night's tie left the Russians one point behind the Canadian entry, which needs only a draw in Sunday's game to retain first place.

Canada's representatives had troubles of their own earlier Friday before they disposed of Czechoslovakia 5-2. The Czechs trailed 3-2 at the end of two periods and were battling hard to get back into the game until insurance tallies by Russ Robertson and Eric Unger set up East York's winning margin.

It was by far the toughest test of the tournament for the Canadians. All their previous opponents lost by seven goals or more.

A crowd of more than 10,000 watched the game, cheering wildly as the Czechs gave East York goalie Don Lockhart his busiest day of the tournament.

Stockholm Three Crowns, fighting to retain a title won last season when Canada, Russia and Czechoslovakia were not entered, barely missed a victory that would have kept them in the running. A Swedish goal was scored less than a second after the bell ended play in the second period.

In a game hampered by soft ice, the Canadians took an early lead over the Czechs as Earl Clements scored shortly after the seven-minute mark, but a goal by Bacilek evened the count less than two minutes later.

The Canadians launched a steady attack which was rewarded by two quick goals by George Sayliss and Moe Galand before the first intermission. It was the 15th goal of the series for Galand, the tournament's scoring leader.

In the second period the Czechs abandoned European-style combination play and began driving in on goal in the Canadian manner. The switch in tactics, together with improved defensive work, appeared to unbalance the East York club.

Finally centre Martin Zabrodsky, a veteran of the 1949 Czech team that beat Canada 3-2 for the title, produced the losers' second goal.

In Friday's curtain-raiser, Germany downed Finland 5-1 to climb into fifth place in the eight-team round-robin series.

The Czechs face Sweden today in a battle for third place. The Swedes currently hold a one-point edge, having taken an 8-0 beating from Canada for their only defeat.

Winless Switzerland meets Finland in the day's only other activity.

Germany and Norway close out their schedule Sunday before the Canada-Russia game.

Go GMC automatically!

NEW HYDRA-MATIC TRANSMISSION *

AVAILABLE in ½-¾-1 4 and 5 Ton Series

MORE THAN 50 NEW MODELS... MORE THAN 70 NEW FEATURES

Headline truck news for 1954 is GMC automatic transmissions. No one else offers them in such a wide range of time-proven, completely automatic transmissions to fill different needs in so many weight classes.

These facts alone would be reason enough for buying GMC, but there are more than 70 brilliantly new features in the more than 50 models. There's the widest choice of powerful diesel and gasoline engines on the market, and also the widest choice of transmissions and axles. There's the Comfortmaster Cab, Ride Control Seat*, One-Piece Windshield, Grain-Tight Boxes—just to name a few of the many modern features. There's more power, increased dependability, new safety, new comfort. Every one of GMC's great features this year, in one way or another, is planned to put more profit in your business.

See your GMC dealer—and find out all that's new in GMC. You'll see many of the features you've been waiting for, in a model that exactly fits your requirements.

*Extra cost option

GMC ONE-TON PICK-UP brings you the famous Hydra-Matic Drive* to speed your hauls with clutchless ease in the city or around the farm. Newly designed standard transmissions are also available. Another great plus this year is larger grain-tight boxes with lower loading heights and wedge-type latching tailgate.

GMC M450-M470—Here's the headline news of the year. The only truck in its class to offer great new Hydra-Matic transmission. The new, 8-speed Hydra-Matic Drive* gives power without waste and makes the engine practically immune to abuse.

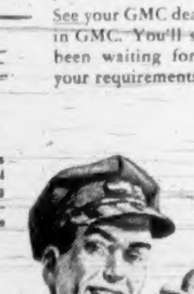

GMC FORWARD CONTROL—Door-to-door deliveries are speedier than ever with Hydra-Matic Drive*. Even the 4-speed standard transmission is newly designed to give the greater convenience of smoother and more efficient operation.

GMC PANEL—Hydra-Matic Drive* now puts modern simplicity of operation into all panel trucks—helping to greatly reduce driving fatigue and engine wear. Improved 3- or 4-speed standard transmission is also available on all panels.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP) Trading was dull and prices continued to hold close to previous levels.

There was no information available on export loadings of Canadian wheat.

Prices at the Lakehead for the top grades of class two, IWA and domestic wheat advanced one-eighth cent from Thursday except class two durum which remained unchanged.

Ford Motors Advance Five Dollars

MONTREAL (CP) Stock market prices closed on an irregularly higher note in moderate trading.

Highlighting the session were Ford, up five points and Crown Zellerbach, one point better.

Miscellaneous industrials, beverages, papers and steels were higher while utilities and banks dipped. Senior metals and carriers were mixed.

Trading in mines was light and prices were generally softer.

In western oils Jasper moved down 12 cents. Other losers were Phillips, 26 cents softer, and Bailey-Selburn and Anglo-Canadian Oil, each off 10 cents.

Great Plains Higher

TORONTO (CP) — Prices closed higher in light trading. Industrials and western oils led the gain.

Papers, utilities, foods and financial institutions were strong in industrials, with steels weak.

Western oils were led ahead by Great Plains, which added 1.37½. Merrill and Canadian Collieries also were well ahead.

Base metals were strong in seniors and juniors. Seniors and holding companies overcame a weak junior section to move golds up. Uraniums gained a little, featured by Gunnar's 25-cent addition.

Oil Interest Grows

VANCOUVER A number of oils in the Pembina area continued to advance Canadian Collieries, Merrill Pete New Superior, Triad, General Pete and Home Oil all gained, while Central Leduc and Del Rio held more of earlier advances.

Yankee Princess was stronger at the close.

Taylor Bridge added two cents at 38 cents in a generally unchanged mining section.

In industrials Capital Estates slipped back to $26⅝ but B.C. Forest Products, Interior Breweries, B. C. Telephone and B.C. Power all went ahead.

New York Gains

NEW YORK (AP) The stock market pressed ahead firmly.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 70 cents and advanced to $116.20.

The industrial component of the average was up 90 cents and the utilities up 30 cents, both at new high marks, while the railroads gained 40 cents.

Volume expanded to 2,030,000 shares, passing the two million mark for the tenth time this year.

There were 1,176 individual issues traded, 22 more than Thursday, of which 541 advanced and 314 declined. Seventy-seven issues reached new highs for 1953-54 while four issues touched new lows marks during the day.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (Reuters) The general tone of the stock market remained satisfactory but week-end considerations kept business small and selective.

Industrials were quiet with the majority of movements in tune with company statements.

Among mines, kaffirs developed a firmer trend. Changed base metals were also firmer.

Saskatchewan Enters Oil Business

BY HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

The Saskatchewan government is going into the oil business through a farm out agreement it has made with the Consumers Co-operative Refineries Ltd.

The government has given the co-operative two sections of crown reserves in the rich and fast-growing Smiley oilfield in [illegible]

The co-operative will be responsible for operating costs with the co-operative and the government sharing the net returns.

Until the co-operative recovers its development expenses the government will receive 15 per cent but thereafter the government's share will be 60 per cent.

The agreement announced in the Saskatchewan House by Resources Minister J. H. Brocklebank, is important because it is the first of its type. It represents one method whereby Saskatchewan can participate in the active oil industry, which in this country, at least, has hitherto been conducted by private enterprise.

The two sections in the agreement will be developed immediately so as to prevent drainage of Crown-owned petroleum by nearby privately owned wells.

MAIL ORDER BONDS

To finance its growing mail order business and the construction of new stores the Simpson-Sears Ltd. is making a new issue of $12,500,000 4½ per cent first mortgage bonds series "B". Wood Gundy and Co. Ltd., is handling the bonds which will mature April 1, 1979. Offering price is 100 plus accrued interest from April 1. A sinking fund commencing in 1960 will retire $625,000 yearly.

Last year Simpson-Sears offered $15,000,000 series "A" bonds with a coupon rate of 4¾ per cent.

Tourist Trade Group of Victoria Chamber of Commerce has a big agenda for its luncheon meeting in the Pacific Club Monday.

Chairman Conway Parrott makes an appeal to members to roll up because the tourist season is just round the corner.

"We need your help to enable the Chamber of Commerce to do a good job of providing encouragement, entertainment and enthusiasm with which to back up our first class publicity bureau," he says. "The bureau brings the tourists here. It's our job to keep them here".

PRESIDENT REGRETS

"We are being pushed out of our own market by goods produced with less than half our wage cost, that enter Canada under the lowest tariff of any major world textile producing country," said Henry Barrett, president of Dominion Woollens and Worsteds at the company's annual meeting.

He said 17 Canadian primary textile mills had been closed in recent months.

OIL PROMOTION

Canadian Gulf Oil Company, a subsidiary of Gulf Oil Corporation and one of the biggest operating companies in Canada, has elected E. D. Loughney as a vice-president. Mr. Loughney has been general manager of Canadian Gulf in Calgary since 1951.

Banks May Now Lend On Oil in Ground

OTTAWA (CP) Canada's new banking law defines, for the first time, the powers of the 11 chartered banks to make loans to the country's booming oil industry.

A bill revising the Bank Act permits banks to lend money on the security of oil and gas in the ground or in storage, on petroleum mineral rights and production and storage equipment.

Finance Minister Abbott, introducing the bill in the Commons, said banks have "taken a very active part in the development of the oil and related industries in Canada."

DOUBLES CAPITAL

The measure doubles the minimum amount of capital which new banks must have before going into business. Mr. Abbott said the provision has not been changed since 1890.

The bill also prohibits the issue of bank notes intended for circulation outside Canada and termination of the banks' rights to issue currency. In practice, the Bank of Canada for some years has issued all of Canada's currency.

Textile Firm Closes Mills

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP)—L. C. Bonneycastle, president of Canadian Cottons Ltd., says his company has recorded a six-month operating loss of $903,000 because of the textile industry slump. He added that losses were continuing at a higher rate.

In an address to staff supervisors of local mills Mr. Bonneycastle Wednesday night blamed the recession on three factors: loss of volume due to severe competition from American mills, the "inadequacy" of the tariff protection currently provided and the deterioration which has resulted from low priced American imports.

Mr. Bonneycastle said steps taken by his company should bring about greater operating efficiency and production. Three mills have been closed, one at Milltown, N.B., and two in Cornwall.

Liquor Petition Near Objective

—AROUND TOWN—

The Greater Victoria Citizens' Association petition for a city-wide vote on new-type liquor outlets appeared near its goal of 11,350 signatures yesterday.

Frank Hunter, association president, declared:

"We are confident on the basis of the reception we have had up until now. But we are still concerned about getting more signatures because we are anxious to have a reasonable margin to allow for any possible rejections."

Mr. Hunter said the job is not yet finished. He indicated the house-to-house canvass for signatures might continue on Monday and Tuesday, though it had been hoped to complete it by tonight.

The association ... submit the petition to the provincial government on Tuesday, March 9. The government requires signatures of 35 per cent of all registered voters before calling a vote. This was estimated to be some 11,350 signatures.

Identification Important On Income Tax Returns

BY GORDON HOLMS
Member Institute of Chartered Accountants

Identification of persons filing tax returns is often one of the major headaches of the income tax officials.

Adequate identification is a must, particularly if you are hoping for an early refund.

Complete and careful filling out of your form is the best ... numbers, data on employers, etc., are the sum of the information that separates one John Jones from another. Careful block printing of the name also ensures that the person checking your list won't read your name as something entirely different from the one your father conferred on you at birth.

Be careful of spelling non-Anglo-Saxon names also. A name might be spelled one way, say in Ukrainian, and another way in English.

If you have had instances of being confused with someone else in the past, don't hesitate to add a note explaining the matter.

When filing your return make sure that all T4 wage slips, T5 dividend and interest slips, donation receipts, medical and hospital receipts, etc., are securely attached to your return. Missing items may delay assessments and refunds.

At the Shriners' Ball Last Night

More than 1,000 persons, many from up-Island and the Mainland, attended the annual Gizeh Temple Shrine Band ball last evening at the Crystal Garden. Charlie Hunt and Bert Zala were there with their orchestras to play for dancing and guests were entertained during the evening by a water frolic put on by Archie McKinnon. Pictured above, from left to right, Mr. F. G. Porter, president of the Victoria club, and Mrs. Porter; Potentate George S. Powell and Mrs. Powell of Vancouver, and band president Charles Savage and Mrs. Savage. Others attending were Divans Mr. Jack Streight, Mr. Walter Hudson and Mr. Irvine Miller and their wives from Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Atkinson To Make Home in Burnaby

A wedding of interest here took place Friday evening in Christ Church Cathedral, Vancouver, when Very Rev. Dean Northcote Burke performed the ceremony uniting [illegible] Florence Dugdale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dugdale, Russell [illegible], and William Andrew Atkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Atkinson, [illegible].

Mr. Thomas [illegible] played traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by Mr. Thomas Jenkins, the bride looked lovely in her ballerina-length gown of misty white nylon net over taffeta. Over the strapless bodice she wore a lace bolero with lily-point sleeves and her chapel veil fell from a bridal halo-type cap wreathed with lily-of-the-valley. Her bouquet was of white calla lilies centred with a white and crimson orchid.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Misses Shirley and Dorothy Dugdale, who chose identical gowns of light blue nylon net over taffeta with strapless bodices and ballerina-length skirts. They wore short-sleeved lace boleros and bandeaux of [illegible] blue taffeta flowers [illegible].

Mr. John W[illegible]ger was best man and ushers were Mr. Lorne [illegible], Mr. Alan Newhouse and Mr. Mel Cruikshank.

The reception was held at The Holmes. [illegible] For a honeymoon [illegible] Seattle and south, the bride changed to a light grey worsted suit with beaded trim, navy blue velour hat and navy suede purse and shoes. She had a white orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson will live in South Burnaby.

VON Re-elects Mrs. Markham

Mrs. Dudley Markham was re-elected president of the board of managers of the Victorian Order of Nurses at the annual meeting Thursday.

In her annual report to the board Mrs. Markham stressed the need to continue the work the order has been doing with elderly people suffering chronic ailments. [illegible] of funds the increased pressure on hospitals would be seriously [illegible] if more financial aid were forthcoming more hospital space would be available," she said.

She said a provincial VON delegation approached the provincial government twice during the past year to have the grant of $300 a nurse changed to a straight payment of cost per visit to wards of the government.

"These [illegible] allowance cases. The approximate [illegible] from the government did not approach the actual cost of this care, well over $7,500," she said.

Through cooperation with the Community Association of View Royal the VON was able to establish service in that community on June 1 of 1953, she reported.

SAANICH SERVICE

"There is every possibility that our nurses will be able to answer calls in Saanich [illegible] the good offices of Ray Wootten, head of the welfare committee of the Saanich council. There is every [illegible] $3,000 has been promised us by the council," she said.

Mrs. Markham was high in her praise of the Junior VON saying the order would never [illegible] them.

Others elected to office were Harold Webster, first vice-president; Mrs. F. P. Gillespie, second vice-president; Mrs. L. C. [illegible], secretary, and J. B. Barnum, treasurer.

UBC To Honor Noted Island Doctor

Two outstanding Canadian doctors will receive honorary doctor of science degrees May 17, the first day of convocation at the University of British Columbia and the day on which the first degree in medicine will be conferred at the university.

They are Dr. Edward F. Trapp, first woman ever elected president of the B.C. Medical Association and leading radiologist in Canada and the U.S., and Dr. [illegible] Brock Chisholm, retired head of the World Health Organization.

[illegible] convocation speaker.

Dr. Chisholm, psychiatrist, soldier and administrator, was born in Oakville, Ont., 57 years ago. He joined the Canadian army in 1914 as a private and rose to the rank of captain. Graduating in medicine from the University of Toronto in 1924, he went on to post-graduate work in hospitals in England and at Yale.

After six years of general practice in Oakville, Dr. Chisholm took two years of advanced psychiatric training and set up as a psychoanalyst in Toronto. During the Second World War Dr. Chisholm held the post of director of army medical services with the rank of major-general. He devised emotional stability tests for army recruits to avoid subjecting unstable minds to front line strains.

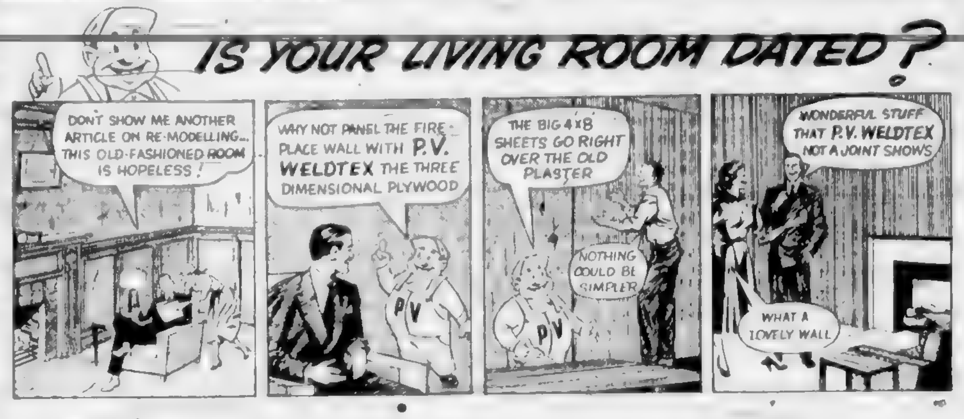

He was appointed deputy minister of health in November 1944, and brought about a broad new federal health program. In 1946 Dr. Chisholm was elected director of WHO in Geneva, a post he held until last year. He now lives at Sooke.

Dr. Trapp graduated from McGill University in 1927 and interned at Montreal General and Vancouver General Hospitals. She did post-graduate work in radiation therapy in Paris, Stockholm, Manchester and London.

Dynamically Told By

SIR EDMUND HILLARY

With Other Members of the Successful Mount Everest Conquerors

ONE NIGHT ONLY!

MON., MARCH 8, 8 P.M.

GOOD SEATS AVAILABLE NOW!

AT EATON'S MUSIC CENTRE

Sir Edmund Hillary IN PERSON! Here to relate, step by step the story of how he fulfilled his lifelong dream of conquering Mount Everest. You'll ASCEND TO NEW HEIGHTS OF SPELLBINDING ADVENTURE as you follow his long, hazardous journey to the summit never before reached by man!

SEE MOVIE-SIZE ACTUAL PICTURES OF THE MOST THRILLING, MOST DARING CLIMB IN HISTORY! HIGHEST PICTURES IN THE WORLD!

On May 29th, 1953, you heard the electrifying news of the successful climb of Mount Everest by members of the eleventh team to attempt the climb in the last 30 years (nine of them British). All previous attempts had failed and some of the climbers perished in their efforts to scale the [illegible]-shrouded peak where snow, ice, rock, bone-chilling winds and the danger of avalanche exist every step of the way.

Now you can hear the story and see actual photographs of how it was done from the man who reached the top . . . following the same route used the previous year by a Swiss party which had to give up a mere 800 yards from the summit. You'll relive with them the hardships of the arduous ascent of 29,002-foot Mount Everest as Sir Edmund relates the dramatic story of how he and Tenzing (two of the fourteen members of the expedition) accomplished the hitherto impossible feat, news of which stirred and thrilled Queen Elizabeth on the eve of her Coronation.

A MAGNIFICENT, INSPIRING EXPERIENCE FOR ALL TO ENJOY! . . . AN UNFORGETTABLE ADVENTURE OF OUR MODERN TIMES, FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE FAMILY

Public To View Red Cross Lodge

The bright modern building that affords a place in the sun for sick and invalided veterans, Red Cross Lodge, will be open for public inspection Sunday.

This attractive building with its large light-attracting windows stands beneath a grove of oak trees at the northwest corner of the Veterans Hospital, Richmond Road.

In the front of the lodge, a spacious cement and stone patio is furnished with comfortable [illegible] for summer weather.

When the weather turns cold there is the cosy furnished lounge with a huge stone fireplace and well-stocked library for the inmates of the hospital.

Cheery Red Cross workers are always on hand at the coffee counter and in the office for those who want cards for bridge or cribbage.

OPENED IN 1947

This haven for the sick was opened for the first time in November of 1947 and has since been constantly on the go.

There are several bedrooms in the back of the building that can be rented by relatives of critically sick patients in the DVA Hospital.

The open house will be held Sunday afternoon when Red Cross workers will show the general public through the lodge, explain how it is operated and introduce [illegible] to patients who frequent the homey quarters.

Where on Earth
Was The Most Mysterious Turtle?
By TED ATWOOD

Anchored in New York harbor one summer night in 1776, 400 British warships under Admiral Howe's command waited to snatch ... New York. From the Long Island shore Gen. George Washington ... watched ... ship ... flag-ship of the enemy fleet ... was a contraption designed to blast the English vessel out of the water.

Designed by a Maine farm boy, David Bushnell, this strange underwater craft was named The American Turtle. ... Her motive power was a foot-pedal apparatus which regulated a propeller or set of oars.

... and he surfaced. Sighted, he released his torpedo. The explosion frightened small boats away, but did no harm to the Eagle.

In later attacks the Turtle managed to do some damage to enemy ships but the British finally destroyed her. ... the first underwater vessel capable of destroying an enemy ship ... craft ever to enter New York harbor.

Thanks: Larry Nelson, New York City.

Milne's Water Colors Treat at Arts Centre

BY INA D. D. UHTHOFF

When David Milne died recently, Canada lost one of her most distinguished artists.

Though chiefly a landscape painter, he nevertheless painted whatever was at hand, flowers casually thrust into a bowl, a gift package from a friend, children playing beneath the trees. Ideas suggested by the kings, queens and knaves on playing cards, snow crystals, circus animals, later developed into paintings that now hang on the walls of the leading art galleries, and are also in famous private collections.

The David Milne exhibit now at the Arts Centre will continue until March 14, centre officials said Friday.

More than half the pictures in the exhibit have already been sold, many in Victoria, with prices going as high as $200.

A master of understatement, he used color and line with an economy that was the result of knowledge and experience. Painted rapidly on dripping wet paper, the color moves freely, defining lines being added as the paper dried. The consequent shifting of focus adds vitality.

LIFE, FEELING

The apparently careless and easy picture has life and thrill that is often lacking in more deliberate work. The reason for this lies in the painter's feeling for his subject. The initial impulse is strong enough to carry him through and shows itself in the painting. Compressed force makes a good picture.

Born in southern Ontario, Mr. Milne painted the country he knew best. He was a contemporary of the Group of Seven, but was not influenced by their work. Intimate, tender, whimsical, he went his own way, following no particular school or movement.

His use of "dry brush" line in his earlier paintings is characteristic. Firm, confident lines, defining areas of bare paper, but nevertheless expressing so much, convince one of his fine draftsmanship.

SENT TO ITALY

In 1952 Mr. Milne was one of four artists whose work was chosen to be sent to Italy to represent Canada at Venice.

It is fortunate that this exhibition is to be at the Arts Centre for two weeks, as this artist's work is in great demand. Most of it is now in galleries, private collections, and national and international traveling shows sponsored by the National Gallery of Canada.

The water colors are in two groups, one dated before 1925 and one after 1937. In the interim Mr. Milne painted in oils, but it is by his water colors that we know him best.

Outstanding in the present exhibition are "Black Reflections," "Rainstorm," "Lights of Toronto Waterfront," "White Poppy" and "Blue Haze."

Red Rebels Blast 12 Planes, Cripple Indo-China Airport

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—Vietminh Commandos raided Hanoi's big civil airport Thursday, blowing up at least 12 transport planes before they were beaten off. The attack crippled the vital airlift to the embattled French Union bastion of Dien Bien Phu. In anticipation of fresh rebel assaults, the French hastily ordered their key defenses bolstered all along the vital Red River delta around Hanoi.

A union spokesman said Friday more than 200 suspects have been rounded up following the daring raid on Gialam airport, important base for funnelling men and supplies to Dien Bien Phu in northwest Indo-China.

RING OF GUARDS

The French also put a ring of armed guards around the airport five miles from Hanoi and denied access to anyone without special military permission.

The Reds struck before dawn, planting triggered bombs in planes along the main runways. The explosives went off with a roar that startled Hanoi across the Red River. Airport guards opened fire, killing one raider.

The French command in Saigon said "about a dozen" aircraft were damaged or partially destroyed.

In Paris, meanwhile, the government sidetracked Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's proposal for a prompt cease-fire in Indo-China by setting up a barrier of paralyzing conditions.

Premier Joseph Laniel in effect wrote off any chance for a truce before the Geneva Peace Conference April 26. He said France's hopes are pinned on that conference of the Big Four and countries involved in the Korean and Indo-Chinese wars.

GREAT PROBLEMS

"You can see the extreme complexity of the problems posed by a cease-fire before negotiations," Laniel told a cheering national assembly. His plain implication was that they were too great to be solved in the meantime.

The assembly was manoeuvered into debate by the opposition to bring out the government's intentions regarding the recent proposal by Nehru to stop the shooting until the diplomats had their say at Geneva.

Laniel said the first move would have to come from the Communist rebels in Indo-China.

He summarized France's military conditions as follows:

1. The total evacuation of Laos by Communist troops, whom he called foreign aggressors.

2. The similar evacuation of Cambodia, southernmost of the three associated states of Indo-China.

3. A neutral no man's land around the Red River delta, the northern core of the French defenses, and removal under strict security conditions of 70,000 Viet Minh infiltrators.

4. The removal of Communist force in central Viet Nam, where a Christmas drive cut the country in two, to strictly marked zones established to safeguard French union soldiers and the local population.

5. The disarming or evacuation of Communists in southern Viet Nam around Saigon.

MORE U.S. AID

In Washington foreign aid chief Harold E. Stassen said more than $1,000,000,000 in U.S. aid will be sent to Indo-China this year to reinforce French and native forces in their fight against the Communists.

He said the total will include $785,000,000 from military aid funds already appropriated for the current fiscal year which ends June 30. Another $250,000,000 to $350,000,000 will be in the form of military goods diverted from Korea, he said.

WRCNS Recruiting

Lieutenant Myrtle Allen, staff officer of the WRCNS, on the staff of the commanding officer, Naval Division, Ottawa, will be in Victoria Saturday and Monday on an annual inspection.

Lieutenant Allen will interview any young Victoria women interested in a navy career at the Navy Recruiting Office between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. Saturday and Monday.

Panel Discussion Set for Nurses

A panel discussion on nursing procedures for poliomyelitis, and an iron lung demonstration will be given by nurses from the isolation ward of the Royal Jubilee Hospital for Victoria Chapter members of the Registered Nurses' Association of B.C. at their meeting Tuesday at 7.45 p.m. in the Jubilee Annex lecture hall.

Detective's Call Made on 'Hunch'

City Detective Richard Berry wouldn't have gone there," re-declared yesterday during the plied the detective. "It was just County Court trial of Robert a hunch."
N. J. Carlow, that he went to Carlow's home at 1251 Balmoral Road on a "hunch" last November 20 following the break-in and theft of a safe from New Method Laundries call office at 2704 Quadra Street.

Carlow's trial began yesterday before Judge Joseph B. Clearihue.

Detective Berry testified that he collected chips of paint from the safe green on one side, red on the other from the break-in scene.

He said he went to Carlow's home and found chips of red and green paint on the bumper and in the trunk of a car outside.

Detective Berry said he asked Carlow if he could account for his actions on the night of December 19 and Carlow answered questions voluntarily.

James J. Proudfoot, counsel for the accused, asked the detective if he went to Carlow's home because he had "certain information."

Detective Berry said no.

"You knew the accused had a record and you thought he might have something to do with the case?"

"I thought he might have had something to do with it or I

The detective said Carlow asked what his questions were getting at and he told him, "I'm getting at a safe that was stolen from New Method Laundries."

He said Carlow answered, "I didn't park no pete."

The detective said he took a [illegible] overcoat to headquarters after asking the accused to come along for futher questioning.

Small chips of paint were found in the pant cuffs and coat pockets, he said.

Detective Berry admitted that he had not told Carlow he had the right to refuse to go to headquarters.

T. W. McC. Davis, provincial analyst, said chips of paint from the safe, the laundry office and the clothing were all similar "in all respects examined."

Mrs. E. J. Ross, clerk in charge of the laundry office, testified the safe contained about $98 when it was stolen.

Col. Keith Dixon Takes Marine Post

Colonel Keith Dixon takes over today as district marine agent for the department of transport in Victoria. He succeeds Tom Morrison who retired yesterday after 54 years of service.

Colonel Dixon steps up from his position of superintendent of lights, which he has held since 1949.

His first appointment to the department of transport was in 1941 when he was made marine agent at Prince Rupert, but because he was on active service he did not take up the appointment until 1946.

He has spent many years as an engineer with the Canadian Pacific Railway.

From 1921 until it was disbanded in 1933, he was with the CPR engineering department on location and construction from Ontario to British Columbia. In 1931 he was appointed locating engineer on grade revision of the CPR main line between Kamloop and Spence's Bridge.

He spent several years with the Ontario department of highways and came to Victoria to make his home in 1937.

He is commanding officer of the 5th B.C.I. Regiment.

BOY SCOUT OFFICIAL

He was appointed assistant provincial commissioner for the Boy Scouts in 1949 and led B.C. contingents to Canadian Scout Jamborees in 1949 and 1953.

Born in Yorkshire, England, he came to Canada in 1920 after serving overseas in the First World War.

POWER COMMISSION BLAMED IN PROBE ON SLIDE

Doubt Cast On New Plan

Findings in the inquiry into the Whatshan disaster ought to cast doubt on the power commission's Buttle Lake plans, two prominent conservationists declared last night.

Hon. H. H. Stevens told The Colonist from Vancouver:

"The report ought certainly to throw grave doubts on the obvious determination of the commission to go ahead with Buttle Lake in face of expert evidence to the effect that it is not safe for a dam of the type they propose to build there. They are technically wrong."

TROUBLE FEARED

Roderick Haig-Brown of Campbell River said he felt the surveys taken of the Buttle Lake area for the proposed dam there could result in trouble similar to the Whatshan slide.

"Although a report of the surveys has never been published I feel the cost of putting the dam in may prove much higher than estimated," he said, "and we will both lose the park and still not have a dam. This finding by Mr. Justice Clyne just adds to the worry."

(Conservationists have frequently expressed fear that excessive leakage of water through the ground under the proposed Buttle Lake dam will make the dam a failure.)

Mr. Justice Clyne had this to say about the B.C. Power Commission's failure to have a geological examination made of the site of the Whatshan power plant to determine the nature of the terrain:

"Undoubtedly it is good practice to drill the area in the vicinity of the proposed site of a power house and switching station where a permanent and expensive installation is going to take place. . . .

"However, the nature of the slope above the power house showed itself during a year and a half so that any original commission to ascertain its character became merged in the later failure to take steps to protect the property."

NO COMMENT

A. W. Lash, chief engineer and power commission members Samuel R. Weston, Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster and Forest L. Shaw all declined last night to comment on Mr. Justice Clyne's findings.

They stated they knew about the contents of the report, but had not had the opportunity yet to study it in full.

Churchill Vigor Renewed

LONDON (Reuters) — Close friends of Sir Winston Churchill are saying that if he maintains his present form they foresee him continuing as prime minister after his 80th birthday in November.

This view is shared by many members of parliament, who declare that far from showing any signs of retiring, the veteran statesman seems to have taken a new lease of life in recent months.

Both Conservatives and Socialists are impressed by his newfound vigor in House of Commons speeches.

He steps about more briskly than at any time since his illness last summer. Even his choice of clothes seems brighter, particularly his polka-dot bow ties.

Cabinet ministers say their leader has recovered his old grip on the day-to-day direction of the government.

Negligence Found

Three Officials, Engineer Failed To Take Proper Steps

The members of the B.C. Power Commission and their chief engineer were "negligent in failing to take reasonable steps" to avert the landslides which smashed the Whatshan power plant last fall.

This was the finding of Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne, Supreme Court judge whose report on the Whatshan disaster was received by the government yesterday and immediately presented to the legislature.

Premier Bennett later said he had no comment on the report, but that the government was studying it.

Mr. Justice Clyne was commissioned last September to probe the causes of the mudslides which on August 11 and August 16 smashed a large part of the $6,000,000 Whatshan power plant on Lower Arrow Lake and knocked out its distribution system.

PLANT IN DANGER

After hearing 25 witnesses in 22 days of evidence and after visiting the slide area, Mr. Justice Clyne decided that the three power commissioners and their chief engineer knew, or should have known, that the plant was in danger for two years before the slides, but that they failed to try to avert them.

The power commission and H. G. Acres & Co., the consulting engineers who helped plan the Whatshan project, had been loudly criticized for building the power plant on a site where landslides were to be expected.

But Mr. Justice Clyne found that the engineering advice on construction of the plant was sound, and that that advice was followed. He completely cleared Acres & Co. of any responsibility for the disaster.

The four men at fault, he said, were Samuel R. Weston, chairman of the power commission, Commissioners Forrest L. Shaw and Major-Gen. W. W. Foster, and BCPC chief engineer Arthur W. Lash.

In spite of repeated warnings over a period of two years from commission personnel at Whatshan that huge masses of mud behind the power plant were shifting, he found, neither Mr. Lash nor the commissioners took action.

$5 Increase In Pensions May Be Due

BY T. A. MYERS
Colonist Legislative Reporter

Has the B.C. government decided to boost pension bonuses by $5 a month to keep pace with its sister government in Alberta?

This possibility cropped up Friday after a day of mysterious goings-on behind the scenes in the legislature.

Just before Speaker Thomas Irwin was scheduled to open the house at 2 p.m. Friday, Socred members were summoned out of the chamber to a special caucus meeting.

Opening of the day's sitting was held up 20 minutes.

Then the government members silently trooped back into their places for the day's speeches.

BENNETT SMILES

A minute later Premier Bennett, flashing a wide smile, strode into the house after telling reporters his budget would not be presented Monday but would be delayed "a couple of days."

There was a hurried conference of party whips to arrange for extra speakers to fill out the time until the budget was ready.

The premier left the house again. Coming out of his office a few minutes later he told the Colonist that plans had changed, the budget definitely would come down Monday. Certain printing difficulties, he said, had caused the delay; these had now been overcome.

He didn't explain why a special caucus was needed to discuss printing difficulties.

ALBERTA'S MOVE

A few hours later, the Alberta government presented its own budget, which included $5 a month increases in the supplementary pensions the province pays to old-age pensioners.

The B.C. government also has promised bonus increases, but the amount has been kept a secret.

There have been persistent rumors, however, that it wouldn't be more than $2.50 a month.

The question now is: Did Premier Bennett decide that if Alberta could afford to give its senior citizens a $5 raise, so could B.C.?

Premier Bennett is proud of the fact that the Social Credit government of Alberta, along with B.C., has been paying $10-a-month bonuses, the highest in Canada. But he wouldn't want to be outdone by Alberta.

CAUCUS PURPOSE

There is a possibility that Friday's extra special caucus was to inform the B.C. Socreds of the Alberta plan, and to decide on the same increase for B.C.

If that was the case, the decision to delay B.C.'s budget for a couple of days might have been to give the government time to juggle revenues and expenditures to cover a suddenly doubled increase in bonuses.

The printing difficulties mentioned by the premier might have been a matter of changing $2.50 to $5 in the budget speech. Just how these difficulties could have been overcome in so short a time is a story that may never be told.

Alberta Budget Record

EDMONTON (CP)—Premier Manning placed a record $205,000,000 budget before the Alberta legislature Friday night and headlined it with increased payments to the province's elderly citizens and the blind.

He also announced a boost in the indemnity paid to members of the assembly itself.

The province's financial assistance to its municipalities will also go up.

There were no tax changes.

Mr. Manning, who also is provincial treasurer, estimated over-all revenues for the 1954 fiscal year at $157,315,465, an increase of $18,947,305 over the current year, with expenditures, exclusive of statutory provisions, at $156,949,712, an increase of $1,991,582.

Statutory provisions for loaning purposes amounted to $48,000,000, boosting total estimated expenditures to $204,949,712, an increase of $30,866,582 over the amount estimated in the 1953-54 budget a year ago.

Budget highlights:

An increase of $5 a month—to $15 from $10—in supplementary pensions paid by the provincial government to recipients of old-age security pensions, old-age assistance pensions and allowances for the blind.

The government proposes to increase by $60 the allowable annual income for each of the pensionable category categories.

Arms Cache Found

NEW YORK (AP) — Police Friday seized a huge cache of armaments in an upper West Side Manhattan building, and arrested two men they identified as Cubans.

The big store of weapons, police said, included 27 large calibre anti-tank guns with 24 cases of ammunition, 25 Garand rifles with four cases of ammunition and five cases of hand grenades.

The arms were stacked in a store room of a five-story business and residential structure.

Nathan Small, clerk of the firm which owns the building, said that recently "trucks began to unload heavy cases outside the premises."

Heave Will Right Hulk of Empress

LONDON (CP) — There will be few spectators today for the climax of a tough salvage job the final mighty heave to right the gutted hulk of the Empress of Canada.

Only a handful of salvage experts from six countries and the salvage workmen will be on hand at Liverpool for the big heave, in the £320,000 operation to float the 20,000-ton Canadian Pacific Steamships liner, which burned and capsized at her berth January 25, 1953.

Divers first cut away the twisted funnels, masts, bridge and upper deck.

Openings were cut from deck to deck and 700 tons of steel plating passed through to build watertight bulkheads. Six 45-foot water-filled steel cylinders were mounted on the exposed side of the 600-foot hull to help pull it upright and 11 more, filled with air, were secured to the submerged side.

The final step was to install the 16 great winches. Today, powered by steam from six harbor boats moored alongside, they'll slowly tighten the hawsers fastened to high steel tripods, welded to the upper side of the hull.

After that, the hull will have to be floated from the dock bottom and the hundreds of tons of oil and mud now inside shoveled out.

Tisdalle Charges Answered

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black Friday slapped down his fellow Socred, Saanich's J. D. T. Tisdalle, for his charges of "indoctrination," in B.C. schools.

"In my 15 years as a school teacher," Mr. Black told the legislature, "I have never found one case of indoctrination . . . we have heard too much of this old bogey that school teachers are all CCFers or all Liberals, or all Social Crediters."

It was the second time in a year that Socred cabinet ministers had been impelled to rebuke education critics in their own rear ranks.

Last spring education minister Tilly Rolston repudiated J. Allen Reid's charges of "sex in schools."

Father of Two Becomes Woman

LONDON (Reuters)—A former RAF fighter pilot father of two children—has changed completely into an attractive blonde woman.

Doctors said Friday they believe it may be the most complete sex transformation in medical history.

Until 1951 the pilot was Bob Cowell, 33, son of Maj.-Gen. Sir Ernest Cowell.

Now the ex-pilot is Roberta Elizabeth Cowell whom the doctors describe as a sophisticated woman who has completely readjusted herself to her new life. She cannot, however, bear children.

The change in sex began in 1948. During the next three years it was completed by hormone treatments and a series of operations.

At present, the doctors said, Miss Cowell is "somewhere in France."

RARE CASE

They added that two features make the case more unusual than most sex changes. A change from male to female—much rarer than the reverse—has seldom, if ever, taken place so late in life.

Secondly, the doctors said they knew of no previous case where the change has occurred in a man already the father of two children.

The marriage came to an end in 1952—a year after the transformation.

Photographs of Cowell at a time when he was a well-known racing driver show him as a clean-cut, alert young man.

Today as Roberta Cowell she has blonde hair cascading to her shoulders. She uses make-up freely and wears jewelry.

The original birth certificate has been altered. The original document, issued in April, 1918, gave the child's sex as "boy" and the names as "Robert Marshall Cowell."

Now it has been endorsed: "For 'boy' read 'girl.' Corrected on May 17, 1951, by me Philip J. Stevens, superintendent registrar, on production of statutory declaration made by Dorothy Elizabeth Cowell and (Dr.) Charles Eugene Dusseau."

Dr. Dusseau, a graduate of Quebec's Laval University and of the University of Toronto, now practises in London. He said he took no part in the operation but "was merely asked to certify that the person was a woman."

Final Farewells Said

Colonel Keith Dixon, left, who becomes district marine agent for the department of transport today, bids farewell to Tom Morrison, who retired from that position yesterday.

Agent Ends Long Career

It was Tom Morrison Day on board the lighthouse tender Estevan yesterday.

The bluff, outspoken, tall and craggy veteran of 54 years in ships and ashore retired from his position as district marine agent for the department of transport here yesterday.

Nearly 100 of his friends from the transport department—from lighthouses, weather-ships, lighthouse tenders, shore workers and office workers—gathered on board the Estevan to bid "the boss" good-bye.

PRESENTATION MADE

They gave him a 21-inch television set as a present and Mrs. Morrison was presented with a large floral bouquet.

Colonel Keith Dixon, who takes over Mr. Morrison's duties today, made the farewell speech.

"In some respects this is a sad occasion," he said.

"A man who to many of us has proved himself a friend as well as a boss is now relinquishing one of those roles. We hope he will continue in the other role for many years to come.

LONG SERVICE

"His service covers six reigns and it is most appropriate that in the last year of service and in the sixth reign he was presented a Coronation Medal."

He paid tribute to his big heartedness and capacity for helping other people, his keen interest in the service, his enthusiasm and capacity for work.

Mr. Morrison recalled his years of service.

"You remember the good things, the funny things, and the things that happened long ago," he said. (See further story on page 26.)
